British Forces Make Landing To Prevent Coup

BELIZE, British Honduras (Reuter) — Diplomatic advices from Guatemala last week referred to the strong probability of an airborne attempt to seize Belize and the rest of British Honduras by a bloodless coup, it was disclosed today.

Five Dakota aircraft were known to be at an airfield near the border, and it was feared they might be used to ferry troops to the Belize airfield.

Before the arrival three days ago of the British cruiser Sheffield, flagship of Vice-Admiral Sir William Tennant, commander-in-chief of the American and West Indies Station, there were no guns or fully-equipped men to defend the airfield.

SECOND CRUISER THERE

The cruiser Devonshire arrived here today from Kingston, Jamaica, and began disembarking men of the Gloucestershire regiment, armed with anti-tank guns and mobile equipment. The troops took up key defence positions.

Flying up to 200 men in at a time in a series of trips, the five transports could have rapidly built up a force capable of seizing Belize and its surroundings swiftly.

The time for such a move, however, is past. Any move by the Guatemalans would immediately produce bloodshed and violence, which they are not expected to risk.

Tennant has said he does not think a landing from the sea is a serious possibility.

Men from the Sheffield settled down in positions at the Belize airfield and harbor, where they set up Bren gun emplacements and tommy gun patrols.

Other marines from the Sheffield penetrated the 90 miles from the coast to the border of Guatemala, where they patrolled in jeeps to "show the flag."

Members Arrive For Legislature Opening Tuesday

Members of the British Columbia Legislative Assembly today began arriving from their homes throughout the province for the third session of the 21st legislature which will open formally at 3 Tuesday afternoon.

The opening ceremony, which will see the legislative chamber crowded with guests representing the business, church and political life of the province, will be marked by the full color and tradition.

With all the seats on the floor of the House and a majority of those in the galleries reserved for the invited guests, seats in the galleries for the public will be at a premium and will be given on a first-come, first-served basis.

Today the finishing touches are being put on the ceremony, the social event of the year in Victoria.

Guests will start occupying their seats in the legislative chamber well before the deadline at 3 when the ceremony will get under way with the arrival of Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks at the Parliament Buildings. He will be driven down from Government House.

Before proceeding up the granite steps of the main entrance of the Parliament Buildings, he will inspect the guards of honor, composed of 50 sailors from H.M.C.S. Naden and 50 men from the Canadian Scottish Regiment. A 15-gun salute will be fired in blank across the inner harbor from four 25-pounders to be manned by the army.

THREE BANDS

Three bands, a pipe band and brass bands of the Scottish and navy will be present.

Scattered showers have been Meteorological Observatory for tomorrow.

British Columbia's new premier, Hon. Byron Johnson, will greet the Lieutenant-Governor at the top of the main entrance. Steps of the entrance will be lined by Boy Scouts.

Accompanying His Honor will be three aides, representing the three armed services of the nation, along with his private secretary, Capt. J. G. Cromack.

The first duty of the members will be to select a new Speaker, to succeed Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker, who since the session last spring has been appointed to the B.C. Supreme Court bench. The new Speaker will be R. H. Carson, Liberal Coalition member for Kamloops and brother of Works Minister E. C. Carson.

The Speech from the Throne, giving an outline of the government legislation to be introduced during the session, will be read by His Honor, who then will retire from the House.

The new Speaker will then go to the Speaker's throne and the prayer read.

The House is opening amid rumors that the government may ask the 48 members to endorse a provincial sales tax to help swell revenues which have failed to keep pace with rising government expenses.

Debate on amendments to the School Act and a review of the government's policy on Japanese Canadians are expected to be among the most contentious issues to come before the House. Also expected to draw some strong criticism is the government's forestry policy.

Ontario's Legislature To Open Wednesday

TORONTO (CP)—The fourth session of Ontario's 22nd Legislature will be opened Wednesday with the prospect that the affairs of the province's vast publicly-owned hydro-electric system will be a dominant issue.

Premier Drew, whose Progressive Conservative Party has 66 members in the 90-seat House, has already announced his government will recommend adoption of a frequency standardization program for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, which generates the power used in most Ontario municipalities.

Pheasant, Breakfast Guest

Smiling June Harrison, 11, looks out of the kitchen window through which an uninvited hen pheasant crashed

A hen pheasant flew in for breakfast at the home of T. S. Harrison, 298 Beach Drive about 8 this morning and quite disorganized the usual Monday morning routine.

She smashed through a closed window in the breakfast nook, wheeled over the table while the excited household ducked for cover and then, not waiting to survey the damage, just as quickly left—through the broken window.

There was window glass in the jam, the toast, the sugar bowl and the clothing of Tommy and June Harrison and their sister, Mrs. M. L. Norton, all three of whom were sitting in the breakfast nook enjoying their morning toast and coffee.

On her flight in, the pheasant hit the back of 16-year-old Tommy's head.

"It was only in for a few moments and flew out during the rumpus," said Mr. Harrison shortly after the intruder's visit. "The children were nearly hysterical for a minute."

Czech Events Claimed By Communists People's Will

PRAGUE (AP) — New cabinet ministers told foreign reporters today the events last week giving Communists control of the Czechoslovak government were the will of the people.

Vaclav Kopecky, Communist information minister, told a press conference questioner "no figure is available" on the number arrested or how many persons were expelled from their positions. He declined also to identify the western powers Premier Klement Gottwald asserted were behind "reactionaries" in the former government.

The cabinet will meet tomorrow for the first time.

One minister told the reporters constitutional elections would be held in the prescribed time before parliament is due to adjourn June 7. Kopecky said foreign correspondents would be allowed to report the election.

STILL WANT TRADE

Antonin Gregor, Communist foreign trade minister, said Czechoslovakia hopes to maintain trade relations with the west. He said a delegation had left Saturday for Brussels to discuss trade with Belgium.

They acknowledged that Rev. J. Plojhar, new health minister, and Transport Minister Alois Petr had been expelled from the Catholic Democratic Party. The ministers said "reactionaries" in the party were to blame.

Kopecky said the Czechoslovak public is indignant at stories in the foreign press about the setting up of the "people's republic."

"Nowhere has so revolutionary a change taken place in so peaceful a manner as the Czechoslovak revolution," he said.

Vlado Clementis, under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, told a Communist youth audience Sunday the foreign press "has started a campaign against us." He said it was the worst since that of Paul Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda minister.

Communist Premier Klement Gottwald, addressing a farmers' rally Sunday, promised up to 120 acres for each of those working the land. He urged the output of more food to help workers fulfill an industrial two-year plan.

Spain Seeks Loan

Finn President Opens Talks With Cabinet On Soviet Pact

HELSINKI (AP) — President Juho Paasikivi opened discussions within the Finnish government today on Prime Minister Stalin's proposal for a Finnish-Russian treaty of friendship and mutual aid.

Paasikivi conferred at the presidential palace for 3½ hours with Premier Mauno Peekala, Foreign Minister Carl Enckell, Vice-Foreign Minister Reinhold Svento and Lt.-Gen. Aaene Sihvo, commander in chief of the Finnish army.

The government's official statement on the subject is not expected before Wednesday night.

The executive committee of the Popular Democrats, a bloc of the Communists and the Socialist Unity Party, was scheduled to discuss the proposal later today. Premier Mauno Pekkala is to attend.

Press and radio published Sunday the text of Stalin's letter to Paasikivi, dated Feb. 22 and closing, "with deep respect." The letter proposed negotiations in Moscow or Helsinki toward a "pact of friendship, co-operation and mutual assistance" against "possible German aggression."

Sources said they believe President Paasikivi feels this way.

To turn down the Soviet bid would aggravate Russian-Finnish relations to a dangerous degree.

PRESIDENT PAASIKIVI

To accept it could mean Finland might get as favorable conditions as possible toward keeping national independence.

K. A. Fagerholmn, Social Democratic speaker of the Finnish Parliament, said in Stockholm Sunday night: "We do not want to see . . . events of the kind now occurring in some other countries who have closed agreements with the Soviet Union."

Attorney-General Orders Two To Stop Operations

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer announced today that he had suspended operations of two health associations and a third association had voluntarily halted operations. There are about 20,000 members involved in the three societies which have head offices in Vancouver.

Operations have been suspended by order of the Attorney-General for the Industrial Health Association and the Employees' Mutual Benefit Association. The third association, National Health Association, voluntarily halted operations.

The Employees' Mutual Benefit Association, according to a report by John C. Oswald & Co., chartered accountants appointed by Mr. Wismer to investigate the association, had 5,774 members. The Industrial Health Association, also investigated by the same company, had 4,308 members.

The National Health Association, which has called a directors' meeting for March 15, is reported to have 12,000 members.

While head offices of the societies are in Vancouver it is believed that they all have some members in Victoria and other Vancouver centres.

The latest move by the Attorney-General, the third during the last few months, brings to six the number of mutual benefit associations whose operations have been suspended by orders of the Attorney-General or through voluntary action.

John C. Oswald and Co. were appointed on Jan. 16 to investigate the Employees Mutual Benefit Association, and a report was made of the condition of the association on Oct. 31 last.

"On this you will note that the association was insolvent, having a shortage in working capital of $30,800 and an overall deficit in assets of $41,999," said the Oswald report.

Appointed on Feb. 14 to investigate the Industrial Health Association, John C. Oswald and Co. reported that on Nov. 30, the close of the association's fiscal year, current liabilities of $12,697 were $7,869 in excess of funds available to meet them.

Total liabilities exceeded the total assets by $18,138, he said.

"I have reviewed the association's records for the subsequent months of December, 1947, and January, 1948," reported Mr. Oswald, "and have to report that the results of operations during these months have not improved the financial conditions."

Previously suspended had been the Union Health and Accident Association, Citizens' Health and Accident Association and West Coast Health and Accident Association.

J. A. Grimmett, Royal Commissioner appointed to investigate health and accident insurance associations operating in B.C., reported Nov. 28, 1946, that when he made his inquiry the National Health Association had 9,000 members, exclusive of dependents. Growth of the membership since that time is believed to have been considerable.

Mr. Grimmett reported that the society as at Jan. 31, 1945, was in a sound financial condition and there was a surplus of $44,513 on May 31, 1945.

Williams Asks City To Refuse Payment Of School Estimates

The finance committee recommended to today's City Council meeting that the record-high school estimates of $1,103,428 be sent back to the Greater Victoria School Board without approval.

Ald. Edward Williams, chairman of the finance committee, explained that the city did not have the funds to take on the increase of $259,176 over 1947 costs and saw no hope of being able to raise them without endangering other civic services.

Friday the executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, of which Mayor Percy George is first vice-president, advised all its member municipalities to withhold payment of school costs where they have risen too high, unless some relief was forthcoming from the provincial government. The U.B.C.M. has recommended imposition of a sales tax to carry education and hospital costs.

It has been estimated by D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller-treasurer, that the increased school estimates would add another four mills to Victoria's already record high rate of 45.5 mills. It has been anticipated that the city's income will drop $200,000 below last year's

U.S. Ship Afire In Indian Ocean

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The United States liberty ship Cecil G. Sellers caught fire today in the Indian Ocean and radio silence tonight indicated her 38-man crew had taken to lifeboats.

Sydney agents for the Sellers said 16 hours had elapsed since the 7,216-ton vessel reported she was ablaze and her crew ready to abandon ship 200 miles off the Coco Islands. She left Freemantle, Australia, Feb. 21.

Three ships were racing to the aid of the stricken vessel, loaded with grain for France. It was expected the British liner Atlantis would be the first to reach her last reported position.

Carrier Warrior Now At Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH, Eng. (Reuter) —The aircraft carrier Warrior, returning to the British fleet after service with the Royal Canadian Navy, reached Portsmouth today, where the crew will commission for Canada her sister ship, the Magnificent. The Warrior was loaned to the R.C.N. to start a naval flying service.

Moderate Quake Disturbs Area In Southern California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An earthquake of moderate intensity awakened residents throughout a pie-shaped belt of southern California early today, but apparently caused no damage.

It's greatest force was felt in the San Bernardino valley, 40 to 50 miles east of here.

The quake was felt at 12.13 a.m., P.S.T., with an aftershock a minute later.

The tremor, which shook homes and rattled windows, was the second in 12 days. A severe quake jolted the Los Angeles area Feb. 19.

The cities of San Bernardino, Riverside, Upland and Pomona all reported a fairly severe tremor early this morning.

It was felt less severely in the area from Lancaster, north of here, to Laguna Beach to the south, about 80 miles apart.

The quake's centre apparently was somewhere along the San Andreas Fault, to the north of Upland and San Bernardino. The fault—a crack in the earth's crust along which most earthquakes occur—runs almost the length of California and is the state's main fault.

The San Francisco earthquake of 1906 and severe shocks since in Santa Barbara, San Jacinto and the Imperial Valley all have occurred along this rift.

Since no record of the earthquake was found on the seismograph at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here, officials felt it must have been "fairly local."

Operation Finds Towel Left From Last

Mrs. Lillian Arthur, 30, of South San Francisco, went to the Community Hospital, San Mateo, Calif., recently after a long illness which followed a Caesarean operation of 22 months ago in a Bremerton, Wash., clinic. At the San Mateo hospital late last week doctors operated on her, found a hospital towel in her abdomen bearing the printed words, "Harrison Mem. Hospital." An invalid for almost two years, Mrs. Arthur lost 100 pounds, spent thousands of dollars for treatment after the Caesarean in which twins, Donald and Donna, shown with her, were born.—NEA telephoto.

Weather

Unsettled weather will be general in most areas of B.C. today with showers on the coast and widely scattered snow flurries over the interior.

A moderate westerly flow of moist Pacific air dominates the province and there is little indication of much improvement although some clearing will occur during the night. Cloudy skies are expected again on Tuesday. Temperatures are near normal in all areas.

Vancouver and vicinity, lower Fraser Valley — Cloudy frequently overcast in showers today. Variable cloudiness tonight. Cloudy Tuesday. Winds westerly 15 decreasing to light during the forenoon. Temperatures normal.

Jews Told They Forfeit World Respect By Continuing To Murder

JERUSALEM (Reuter) — The Palestine government today declared that "the continuance of indiscriminate murder and condoned terrorism can lead only to the forfeiture by the Jewish community of Palestine of all right in the eyes of the world to be numbered among the civilized peoples."

The Stern Gang had said today it set the triple blast which wrecked three railroad sleeping cars Sunday, killing 27 British soldiers and injuring 33.

"This is our answer for last Sunday's Ben Yehula Street crime," the Jewish underground group declared. It referred to the Jerusalem bombing which killed 54 Jews Feb. 22.

CIVILIZED OR NOT?

The British mandate government told the Jews that continuation of "murder and condoned terrorism can only lead to forfeiture by the community of all rights in the eyes of the world to be numbered among civilized people."

The statement accused the Jewish Agency of excusing itself of responsibility for terrorist acts such as Sunday's bombing through "calculated inpuendoes, falsehoods and propaganda."

Hagana, Jewish militia, said it had "unconfirmed reports" that British troops had arrested 24 Jews at Mikve Israel, near Tel Aviv, Sunday night and had "turned them over to an Arab mob as retaliation" for the train attack.

A police source in Jerusalem said it had reports the 24 Jews were taken by soldiers from a spirits factory at Mikve Israel and released in all-Arab Jaffa.

CARS WERE CROWDED

Lt.-Gen. G. H. A. MacMillan, commander of the British forces in Palestine, said three mines shattered the wooden troop cars near Rehovot, 15 miles southeast of Tel Aviv. They were jammed with soldiers returning from leave in Cairo. A fourth mine failed to go off. Had it exploded, Gen. MacMillan said, the toll might have been 50 or more. The blast ripped the tracks and hurled pieces of wreckage into nearby orange trees.

Sunday's communal fighting and sabotage throughout the Holy Land claimed 67 lives all told.

France Faces Labor Crisis As Food Prices Still Soar

PARIS (AP)—Many realists give France only 15 days at most in which to beat down prices or face a menacing Communist labor upsurge.

So far, the finance measures taken by the Schuman government have not stopped mounting food prices.

Moreover, the government's dollar supplies for carrying on the battle have thinned out to such a degree that both American and French sources say Marshall Plan aid, due after April 1, will not arrive in time to block a wage crisis that seems likely to begin March 10 to 15.

The Communist-controlled Labor Federation has already demanded a 20-per-cent increase in the minimum wage base on grounds that price stabilization has not yet caught on.

Labor groups now supporting the government have held off from any such demands, but have made it clear they cannot hold their members in line indefinitely.

Added to this is some unofficial intimation that certain manufacturers are running short of raw material and will begin laying off men about March 15 unless they get more. That is expected to help the Communists to start a labor disturbance.

The government has launched on a price-breaking campaign. It is dumping potatoes, meat and vegetables imported from abroad in an effort to bring down prices. These have mounted so high that workers with salaries nearly double what they were a year ago cannot buy enough to eat. Part of these supplies have to be bought with dollars. There are almost no dollars in the treasury nor elsewhere quickly available to the government.

Work on the levelling of Gordon Head Airpark site was started again Saturday afternoon, when bulldozers were used. Work was halted for almost three weeks while the court action on a temporary injunction was pending.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—All grain futures prices moved up for fair gains on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, with May rye advancing the maximum 10-cent limit. Strength on the Chicago market provided the incentive for the upturn.

There was fair local and commission house buying for oats and barley, with shipper demand and American interests also in evidence.

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains made sharp advances on the Board of Trade today in active dealings.

Small marketings of feed grains by country interests, a surprisingly pessimistic winter wheat crop report by the Santa Fe Railway and unconfirmed trade rumors that the production and marketing administration had re-entered the flour market spurred aggressive buying.

Praises Impartiality Of Braefoot Investigators

Special to the Times

OTTAWA — Veterans' Affairs Minister Gregg in the House of Commons this afternoon defended the impartiality of findings of an investigating committee on values of Braefoot estate veterans' homes, and said he would make reductions recommended by the committee.

In his statement to the House, the minister said: "I have promised to investigate and report on the Braefoot veterans' housing project in B.C. A committee was duly appointed comprising R. W. Wallace, a technical expert in housing values who was suggested to us by J. L. E. Price, chairman of the Canadian Legion housing committee. Mr. Wallace was selected because of his knowledge of values set on similar projects throughout the Dominion and because of his knowledge of construction standards elsewhere.

"The other two members of the committee were selected because of their intimate knowledge of local conditions and prevailing values on Vancouver Island. They were Fred Cabeldu, who operates an insurance agency, and Brooke Stephenson, a member of the firm of Ker and Stephenson, real estate, mortgage and insurance.

"Both these two gentlemen are veterans. It was felt an impartial valuation could be reached by employing a committee of this kind.

NOT INFLUENCED

"As a result of their inspection it was found that in the case of 20 houses, a slightly higher valuation was set, while with respect to the remaining eight it was their opinion that a reduction should be made.

"I can assure the honorable member and this House that the valuation by this committee was absolutely impartial and uninfluenced by my department. Where higher values were set than the price placed upon the property, I do not propose any increase and where lower values have been set, I propose to take the committee's advice and make a reduction accordingly. With the consent of the House, I propose to table the report of this committee with the parliamentary committee on veterans' affairs."

Koreans Vote May 9 On Question Of Establishing Self-Government

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The United States announced plans today to proceed with a general election May 9, under United Nations observation, to name delegates for establishing a Korean government.

Lt.-Gen. John R. Hodge, United States commander in South Korea, made the announcement as Koreans in the American zone celebrated the 29th anniversary of their futile proclamation of independence from the Japanese.

Hodge's statement gave no details, but obviously was in line with a decision reached last Thursday by the U.N. Little Assembly to conduct such an election.

K. P. S. Menon of India, chairman of the U.N. Korean Commission, and Dr. Victor Hoo of China, an assistant secretary-general of the U.N., are expected to return here from Lake Success this week to confer with army authorities on election plans.

The army said it had received no reports of disorders in observance of Sam Il Day by the volatile Koreans.

Good-Luck Gold Coin In Parking Meter

An up-island lady is happy again today because she has found her good-luck charm, a golden English half sovereign.

D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller-treasurer, said that recently when coins from the city's parking meters were being counted the half sovereign was found, obviously having been inserted in place of a cent.

It was kept out to see if it would be claimed, and today the owner claimed it, remembering where and when she had inserted the coin. Its face value is approximately $2.43, but its gold value is more than $3 on today's market, Mr. Macdonald said.

He obtained authorization from the finance committee to return the coin.

BLIND EYES

IT IS THE PRIVILEGE OF CITIZENS OF a democracy, as we understand the term, to criticize their governments, to point out flaws in administration, and to attack apparent injustices. Through the application of such methods, public interest is focussed on matters in which improvement is needed. In that course lies progress.

The foregoing broad generality is enunciated at this time to indicate a condition which the practice of democratic usage sometimes creates among those people who fail to think things through to a conclusion. It is not uncommon for some Canadians, for instance, to become so absorbed in the subject of their criticism that they neglect to stand back and view the picture as a whole. They see something which, in their minds, should be rectified. And unless they achieve their point, they are blind to the other benefits which the Canadian system of government gives them. Their concentration on a single issue can create such a state of unbalance that they fail to heed the spacious living which is possible in this country to a degree greater than almost any other nation on earth.

The point was made abundantly clear the other day by Hon. Paul Martin, federal Minister of Health, in his statement that Canada's answer to Communism is economic and social security providing a level of life that Communism cannot match. It is the shallow practice of some groups, with special interests to serve, to suggest that the high standard of living in this Dominion is the result of its enormous natural wealth and is maintained in spite of the system of government. Such a charge is discredited by the most meagre analysis. There are other places on this globe where a bountiful nature has been even more lavish in providing sustenance with less effort than in Canada. Yet the peoples of those lands do not, man for man, enjoy anything like the advantages accruing to us.

No Canadian suggests that his country is flawless, that no improvements need be made. On the other hand, only the foolish would seek to exchange a proven system which suits the majority of our people for one which, regardless of its theoretical values, has yet to produce results comparable with those of this Dominion.

YOU AND YOUR NEIGHBOR

THE WORK OF THE RED CROSS IN war or peace needs little explanation in this or any other section of Canada. The relief of distress, the provision of assistance in emergency, the training of citizens in safety precautions, are all parts of a program whose significance in the field of welfare has become world-wide. In British Columbia and Alberta the free distribution of whole blood and plasma from voluntary donors has added a department of incalculable value to the work of the Red Cross, and the plan will be progressively applied to the rest of the Dominion.

Today, the organization opens a nation-wide campaign to raise funds. The Canadian objective is $3,000,000, of which this province will subscribe $300,000. The total to be raised in Greater Victoria is $40,000. This is an appeal to the simplest form of citizenship—the recognition of the need to help one another—and every man and woman in this community should respond.

CRITICAL DAYS

WITH THE TURMOIL OF THE COMmunist coup in Czechoslovakia still unsettled, Finland has been presented with a request for signature of a "friendship" treaty and a consequent alignment of its policies with those of Russia. The little country which first bore the brunt of Russian expansion during the early days of the last war—when her tiny army held off the Soviet invaders in the snows of the Karelian isthmus until augmented divisions overwhelmed her—will approach the matter with a full comprehension of the present situation. As one newspaper in Helsinki has put it: "Finland has only one goal—to stabilize her position and retain her sovereignty." It is a little difficult to see how this will be accomplished whichever decision she makes. A refusal of the Russian "invitation" would subject her to increasing pressure from her powerful neighbor. Acquiescence in the Soviet demands would in all likelihood mean that she had taken another step toward enfoldment in the Communist system of satellites.

Observers in Finland cannot help but note that the Czechoslovakia grab was made just as that country was preparing for general elections to be held in May. The Communist regime will have had time by then to ensure that the elections go the "right" way. Finland has elections scheduled for next July, and her parliamentary representation closely resembles that which gave the Communists an opening in the republic brought to life by the great Thomas Masaryk. A bloc of Communists and Socialist Unity members controls 51 seats in the assembly of 200, which gives it the greatest voting strength in a House where no party has a majority. The Communists claim 45,000 members in the Finnish population of 3,800,000. The next few days will be critical for Russia's tiny neighbor.

FIFTEENTH OF HIS LINE

IN INDIFFERENT HEALTH FOR SEVeral months, which a cruise and long rest evidently failed to improve, Mr. Robert McGowan Barrington-Ward, M.A., D.S.O., M.C., fifteenth editor of The Times of London, died yesterday on his way back to the British metropolis from Tanganyika. After a little more than a year as editorial secretary of the paper he was destined eventually to direct, he joined the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry, served in France and Belgium in 1915-1919, and was mentioned in dispatches three times. He became assistant editor of The Observer—under the late J. L. Garvin—on his return to civil life, remaining in that capacity until 1927, when he exchanged his position with the well-known weekly for a similar one on the great daily.

While Barrington-Ward, by reason of the times in which he worked at his profession, was not a Thomas Barnes or a John Thadeus Delane—two great editors of another day at Printing House Square—his term as assistant editor for 14 years enabled him to absorb a full measure of that understanding of public direction which he has exercised with commendable impartiality since he succeeded Sir Geoffrey Dawson in 1941. The presiding genius of the old "Thunderer" who has just passed to his last rest, moreover, could lay claim to some of the attributes of both Barnes and Delane—in contradistinction, for example, to the apparent accommodation by which the Dawson policy virtually gave the Chamberlain government the green light with respect to Czechoslovakia early in September, 1938.

In other words, Barrington-Ward "liberalized" the editorial columns of The Times, thus resurrecting the approach to public questions reminiscent of the belligerently-outspoken technique which Barnes employed between 1817 and 1841—the period in which the institution created by John Walter the First in 1785 emerged from its battles with its competitors as the victorious champion of independent journalism. And it can be said without mental reservation or equivocation of any kind that in the last seven years the domestic and external reputation and influence of The Times have increased immeasurably. Thus on the passing of its latest distinguished editor, incidentally, it is fitting to recall that when the first issue of the paper housed in the two-story brick structure not far from St. Paul's Cathedral was "put to bed" 163 years ago revolution was much in the air—revolution against ancient practices repugnant to the new concepts of liberty which then were gradually beginning to impress the masses. Some aspects of the dark periods of the span of human history are now repeating themselves as the great daily mourns the loss of another journalistic giant who was fearless in his defence of democracy.

TIME TO EMERGE

THE GENERAL REACTION OF THE peoples of the world to events in the Holy Land has been adequately summed up in a statement of the Palestine government that "the continuance of indiscriminate murder and condoned terrorism can lead only to the forfeiture by the Jewish community of Palestine of all right in the eyes of the world to be numbered among civilized peoples." It is patent that the Jews could retort with considerable justice that this also holds true of the Arabs with whom they are competing, and also that both warring factions could accuse the "civilized peoples" of similarly savage behavior on occasion. But the fact remains that certain extreme elements in the Jewish forces have shown a notable lack of restraint and discrimination in their action.

The desperate anxiety of the Jewish people to achieve a national home now that the opportunity has at last been presented will arouse the understanding and sympathy of most observers. But the inability of the more sober section of the Jewish population in Palestine to control the hot-heads and rioters who turn their guns on the British police and militia has created considerable doubt as to the future of the Jewish area of Palestine after partition has been completed. The British, now waiting the ships which will take them home from the thankless task of trying to maintain order in the midst of undeclared war, are being accused by the Jews of bombings and murders in which they could obviously have had no part or interest. With the commencement of United Nations supervision and the act of partition drawing near, it is high time that the responsible leaders who are to fashion the Jewish future should emerge and contribute to the stability and balance which are needed if the new Jewish nation is to be accorded the international respect to which it aspires.

Walter Lippmann

LOOKING AT CANADA

THAT excellent newspaper The Arizona Daily Star, is demanding to know whether Canada should "be placed on a kind of international W.P.A. by the taxpayers of the United States." The editor has just heard "the news" that the Marshall Plan contemplates the spending of American money to pay for supplies to be purchased in Canada and shipped to Europe. This, he says, "amounts to notice that since the people of Canada . . . refuse to assume part of the burden in international reconstruction, we Americans must assume it for them."

AFTER READING that I understood better what the Canadian Ambassador, Mr. Hume Wrong, meant when he said recently that "Americans and Britons know next to nothing about Canada because they have usually been able to take her for granted without serious consequences to themselves". . . but that "it is not always pleasant for anyone to be taken usually for granted, for that at times involves failure to consider one's feelings and one's interests." Because Canada does not often cause trouble, or become a source of dramatic headlines in the newspapers, or adopt policies which are resented in the United States, it may not be an exaggeration to say that the ordinary citizen of the United States knows more of the course of events in such far distant countries as Yugoslavia and Argentina than he knows about what goes on in the territory of his nearest neighbor."

IF THE EDITOR of an influential American newspaper really believes that Canada refuses to assume part of the burden of international reconstruction, then the Canadian Ambassador was not exaggerating American ignorance of what happens in Canada. For the truth is that man for man, family for family, taxpayer for taxpayer, the Canadians have borne a heavier part of the burden of European reconstruction than have citizens of the United States. Though the Canadian population is only one-twelfth as large as the American, though the Canadian national income is only one-eighteenth as large as that of the the U.S., the Canadian contribution to European reconstruction is one fifth as large as the American.

Comparisons are invidious. But there is nothing in the record which entitles any one in the United States to talk down to the Canadians.

MEASURED IN MONEY, measured in terms of their political and diplomatic contribution during the postwar period, the record of the Canadians is something to look up to. They have been, as Mr. Wrong said, "at the head of the line in giving assistance to Europe."

They have done their full share thus far, and there is no question at all of their refusing to continue. The question is solely and simply their ability to continue. To continue what? To continue exporting to Europe wheat and other commodities without receiving in return the goods they themselves need, or American dollars with which to buy goods that can be bought only in the United States.

THEY HAVE BEEN SELLING wheat, meat, lumber, metals, to Europe on credit; they have been buying coal, steel, oil, cotton and machinery in the United States for cash. They have now reached the point where they can no longer buy for cash unless they receive cash for a large part of what they sell. Since November they have had to prohibit the purchase of a long list of American goods and they have had to cut down travel by Canadians in the United States. For they cannot get that cash by selling directly to the United States: The United States bought last year from Canada only one billion dollars worth of goods while she was selling to Canada for cash some two billions worth of goods.

It is not easy for Americans in the twentieth century to understand a problem like that of Canada. A hundred years ago Americans would have understood it quite easily. No living American has ever had to worry about how the United States was to pay for goods that could only be bought abroad. Americans have worried only about how they could keep foreign goods out of the American market and about how they could sell American goods abroad.

THERE HAS NEVER in this century been any question of the United States being able to pay for commodities like coffee or rubber or woodpulp that she wishes to import. She has always had plenty of gold, plenty of gold dollars, and a surplus of exports. Without a special effort and special study it is, therefore difficult for Americans to realize how countries like Canada and Sweden, which were not ravaged by the war, can find themselves in financial difficulties today. It is not immediately obvious that they are in trouble because they sell to countries which pay them in money—but not in the kind of money that can be used to buy what they need. To explain this peculiar difficulty, which contemporary Americans have never encountered is like explaining why the earth is round to a man who says that it has always been flat where he has been living.

YET UNLESS the United States decides she will make herself understand their peculiar difficulty, she will say and do things which wound deeply all the best friends she has on earth. She has never had a better friend than Canada.

It, Alone, Won't Help This Man's [illegible]h, Doc!

Fundamentals In Rural Life

BBC London Letter

RALPH WIGHTMAN is a Dorset farmer whose talks are well-known to listeners. In his "British Farmer" series in the BBC's Overseas Service he said recently: "The land teaches a man that 'what a man sows that shall he also reap.' If you borrow fertility from the soil you must repay. If you waste the richness of the earth you will come to want. If you play through summer you will be hungry in the winter. It is all sensible and sane and straightforward."

"The old parables about human virtues are easy to understand, such as the shepherd seeking for the lost sheep, the tares in the wheat, the seed on stony ground, and the mills of God 'grinding slow, yet exceeding small.' It seems that the cities want to alter all the old fundamental things. They talk of 'rights' and 'equalities' in fundamental things. The farmer growing a crop very seldom gets his 'rights.' Very often he gets much more, which is bad for him, and quite frequently he gets much less."

A case in point occurred last autumn, when Wightman, following the routine proved best by 200 years of farming in his district, sowed his winter wheat in September, despite iron-hard ground which fractured his ploughshares. His neighbor took things easy and sowed in November, normally a disastrous course to pursue. Unexpected and prolonged autumn drought killed most of Wightman's wheat whilst his lazier neighbor had a fine, thick, even crop. "I deserved success but he will get it," said Wightman. "There is no justice about it and no equality of reward."

WHAT REWARD?

"Last month I spent many short days and long nights with a shepherd on the hills with the lambing flock. For at least 10 days he did not change his clothes. He shaved once and he took off his boots three times, but he never slept for more than four consecutive hours. I pay him well I hope. At least he has never suggested that there is anything wrong with his money, but how can you arrive at any equality of reward for a man like that?

"There is no equality in natural things. There is no fairness in a life based on the soil. Equality of sacrifice and fairness of reward are city things. However desirable they may be there is nothing in the world to hint that they are attainable.

TOO SIMPLE

Perhaps, though, the problem lies in deciding what a man means by reward. The cities make all things too complicated and too simple. "Reward" means money and nothing else. The money which shepherd and I get for caring for sheep for a month is less than a film star is paid in an hour. Yet I would not change my wintry hills for all the artificial sunshine of the studios.

"When you walk home from the sheepfold the folly of the cities seems very far away. Here it is easier to think of the Good Shepherd who giveth His life for His sheep."

Historic Observatory Changes Site

By MOYRA YOUDS in London Calling

IT was in the news recently that one of the most important telescopes ever made—the 28-inch refracting telescope of Greenwich—had been moved from Greenwich to the new home of the Royal Observatory, a country house in the south of England.

TOO MUCH SMOKE

This move had to be made because the air above London is so thick with smoke and dirt that it had become impossible for the astronomers to keep their work up to the very high level of the past. In fact, the decision to move was made even before the war, but has only now been put into effect.

Those departments of the observatory working on questions of magnetism moved out of Greenwich some time ago, because the great number of electric machines in London, and the trains, and trams, had a very bad effect on their observations.

The suggestion of moving the Royal Observatory from Greenwich was so serious that the King's approval, and the approval of the Admiralty, and of the Royal Society, was needed before it was put into effect. The change marks a violent break in the connections of Greenwich with its long and noted past. The observatory was formed nearly 300 years ago, in 1675, by a Royal Warrant from King Charles II, who was personally responsible for its existence.

A WREN DESIGN

Sir Christopher Wren, noted as an astronomer as well as an architect, was ordered to design the new building, and the control of the work was put in the hands of an Astronomer Royal. Wren was responsible, as well, together with the great English scientist, Sir Isaac Newton, for forming the Royal Society, which still has a very close connection with the observatory.

It was as long ago as 1833 that the selection of Greenwich Mean Time as the basic time of all countries on earth was made by an international conference in Washington. The Royal Observatory had by then taken upon itself the care and direction of shipping to such a degree that no other place was given serious thought as the zero of longtitude. So, time all over the earth is, in effect, fixed by Greenwich Time, and the time kept in each country is a certain number of hours fast or slow on Greenwich.

SHIFT IN POSITION

This new change in the position of the observatory that is now taking place will make it necessary for an adjustment to be made in the equipment to 20 minutes east from the noted longitude zero of Greenwich, and a 36 minutes' change in latitude, but the time signals will still be given out as coming from Greenwich.

The Tragedy Of Complacency

By JOSEPH LISTER RUTLEDGE

COMPLACENCY IS THE root danger of our democratic world. It blinds eyes to the fact that the best cause, lacking informed and courageous support, may fail before a cause captained by zealots.

Communism is a poor cause, sponsored by poor people, for poor ends. Almost 30 years of its promises and it can boast only a little better than three per cent of the Russian people as espousing its beliefs. Thirty years of absolute power and it has not been able to give its workers as much as labor under a democratic rule has achieved for itself in half the time. Communism is not a Russian creed, but it dominates Russia. It is not a European creed—in Germany and France only three per cent of the people hold to it; in the Balkans 4 per cent, in Italy 5 and in Greece 6 per cent. Everywhere, only a slim minority dominates the most of Europe as Russia's 7,000,000 Communists dominate her more than 180,000,000.

What we complacent democracies sometimes fail to realize is that causes do not become important because of the number of adherents but because of the passionate conviction or prejudice of the few. We fail to realize also that Communism, broadly speaking, is the creed of people to whom any change suggests relief; of despairing people who have lost confidence in order and settled government and familiar ways. They turn to disorder and disorganization and destruction because they hope that, if everything is torn down to a dead level, the tooth and claw battle that would result might give the underdog his day.

When men get desperate enough, as men are in Europe, they are ripe for false doctrines. Hitler once said: "If only I can find these unemployed something to hate in their idle hour besides their country's inability to give them work, my party will eventually become the most powerful in all of Germany." History proved effectively enough that hate is a powerful weapon in the hands of unscrupulous men.

The income tax form for those earning up to $3,000 a year has been greatly simplified. It still isn't as simple as one suggested by a tormented form filler. His contained only four lines:

3. How much have you left?
4. Send it in.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

CZECHOSLOVAKIA'S democratic government is dead, a victim of aggressive Communism. For the second time in a single decade her people are under the bondage of an autocratic dictatorship which denies God and takes unto itself the power of life and death.

However, while democratic government is dead in ancient Prague, I am one of those who believe the spirit of democracy still lives there. Having had long acquaintance with Czechoslovakia and her citizens, I haven't the slightest doubt that this spirit is strong in fiercely-independent hearts and needs only the right spark to set it in action once more.

REASON TO HOPE

So on the basis that where there is life there is no reason to despair, friends of Czechoslovakia have reason to hope that some fortuitous circumstance will produce that spark.

And what will be the nature of the spark? Well, it strikes me that it may well be an intangible thing—an inspiration. It might, for instance, come from their deep affection for President Eduard Benes and their faith in the principles for which the wise old revolutionary risked his life to help build the republic.

Now I don't mean to suggest that this inspiration spark might be the result of direct action by Benes. He is in no position to take direct action. The inspiration will come from what he has done in days long past, rather than what he may do now. But come it will, in due course.

FAR FROM WELL

If anybody could have saved Czechoslovakia in this grim hour of need, it likely would have been Benes. But unhapplly the crisis has found him far from well.

But it is reasonable to believe that his life of service will continue to be the inspiration of the people.

Sooner or later that inspiration will provide the spark which will set Czechoslovakia to reaching again for freedom. And when that happens other slave states may follow until a great conflagration spreads across the Communist-dominated zone of Europe.

PROTECTION ADVOCATED

Winnipeg Free Press

The treatment of the Japanese since the end of the war emergency, the proceedings of the espionage trials, the Quebec government's campaign against a religious minority and now the latest violation of civil liberties in British Columbia all demand a nation-wide law to protect all Canadians from tyrannies now confined to a few defenceless people but certain to be extended if they are not forbidden.

SOONER OR LATER

Windsor Star

Sooner or later the government will have to make up its mind on the oleomargarine issue. It is easy to understand why it would like to evade it. If it makes the substance available to Canadians, in competition with butter, farmers will be mad. If urban dwellers are to be deprived of it especially with the high cost of the alternative — they will be angry.

COOLY COUNTERACTED

Ottawa Journal

Russia is not so hard to understand; she wants to fight the democracies with a "cold" war, is out to block the Marshall Plan, and hopes for and expects a crash in the capitalist Western countries. That calls for counteraction from the democracies, which must come with patience and wisdom, and doesn't admit of panic or hysteria more than it admits of surrender or appeasement.

DISCRIMINATION

Exchange

Starting at the first of the year more and more British Columbia lumber is going to the United States, earning wealth for British Columbia, much-needed dollars for Canada. British Columbia, in other words, is being given the fullest and most natural opportunity for the prosperity and expansion of its main industry. But a few miles away the main industry of the prairies, agriculture, is not permitted to sell its products in the United States at the going prices, must take the lower price fixed by the government and cannot earn the maximum possible amount of dollars. The discrimination between the British Columbia lumber industry and the prairie farm industry is just a baby sample of the broader domination between the farm area and the city worker throughout the country.

Youthful Maestro Makes Sensational Debut In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Swinging his baton smartly, Ferruccio Zurco, eight-year-old Italian conductor, made his American debut Saturday leading an 80-piece orchestra in Carnegie Hall.

It was probably the first time Carnegie Hall devotees had seen a matestro in a little Lord Fauntleroy suit, wearing black slippers and white socks, and it was about the first time, too, that a bobby-soxer was mobbed, instead of doing the mobbing himself.

The concert was remarkable in other respects too: Feruccio stood on a box atop the usual conductor's stand. He received a basket of flowers almost as big as he was. This debut was interrupted by a woman who rushed to the front of the autditorium to read a poem in his honor.

Feruccio was so short you couldn't see his head above the seated musicians, among whom he made his way to the centre of the stage.

But baton in hand, he acted full-size as he led the orchestra in the Beethoven First Symphony and six other pieces, conducted without a score.

The orchestra accepted him as full-size, too. He had the usual prerogatives accorded to a maestro; a man to hold back the heavy curtain when he appeared, a musician to pass him his baton. He shook hands properly with the concert master, invited the orchestra to rise and share the applause, and he himself returned to bow several times.

The audience loved it.

Most of the time the young conductor was assured, poised and dignified. Though twice he ran for the wings when he had finished a number, and once, instead of mounting the podium, he hopped up like any boy.

Events In Britain Attracting Visitors

LONDON—Events of world-wide interest planned for this year in Great Britain run the gamut from drama festivals to Olympic Games. These events are certain to bring tourists from many countries.

Perhaps the most notable event of the year will be the 14th Olympiad with all its traditional pageantry. The opening ceremony is set for July 29 at Wembley Stadium and from that date to Aug. 13, there will be a concentrated program of sporting events in which the world's leading athletes will compete for international honors.

A week after the Olympic Games, the second International Festival of Music and Drama will open at Edinburgh, and visitors are expected from all parts of the world for an event which, although only in its second year, is rapidly becoming established as the world's premier festival of the arts.

Two other important events, the Shakespeare and Malvern Festivals, are so arranged that visitors to the Olympic Games and Edinburgh can include the four in one holiday. The Shakespeare Festival at the magnificent Memorial Theatre at Stratford-upon-Avon will continue from April 15 to September. The Malvern Festival of Drama, dedicated to Bernard Shaw, took place annually from 1929 up to the outbreak of war and is now being revived from July 26 to Sept. 4. The dramatist is writing a new play specially for the event.

Interest in cricket, Britain's national sport, will be enlivened by the visit of the Australian cricketers for the series of test matches to be played in London.

From May 3 to 14 there will be the British Industries Fair to be held in London and Birmingham. This will appeal primarily to business visitors, but there is much to give pleasure to the sightseer at Britain's greatest trade fair.

Accident Toll 3 In Fraser Valley

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Week-end traffic accidents in the lower Fraser Valley district resulted in the death of three persons.

Fred D. Lloyd, 28, and Bertram C. Rutter, 21, both of Cloverdale, were killed Saturday when struck by an automobile on the King George Highway about 27 miles south of here.

Third traffic victim was Florence Hamann, 19, of Milner, B.C., who died in a hospital Saturday night from injuries suffered in a fall from a truck.

'Y' Skating Trip

Next Y.M.C.A. skating trip to Nanaimo will take place March 9, program director Bob Morrison announced today. Tickets for the trip must be picked up at the "Y" desk or the program department. Due to the fact that roads are still not open into Forbidden Plateau no ski trips have been scheduled. However, trips will resume as soon as road conditions are suitable.

CHRISTMAS COMES A LITTLE LATE THIS YEAR—Almost two months late, Mrs. Kathleen Martin hands Christmas gifts to her 12-year-old son, Martin F. Mann, at their West Seneca, N.Y., home. The late celebration was held because Martin was in the hospital for 78 days, 42 of them in a coma, following a traffic accident.

'Cat Burglar' Robs Two Oak Bay Homes

"The "cat burglar" returned to Oak Bay Friday night. This time he deviated from his usual policy of just taking money in his prowlings in two homes in that municipality.

The pussy-footed burglar stuck to his old schedule of prowling between Friday night and Saturday morning, operating with his usual quietness. None of the sleeping occupants of the homes were disturbed. They awoke Saturday morning to find he had been there.

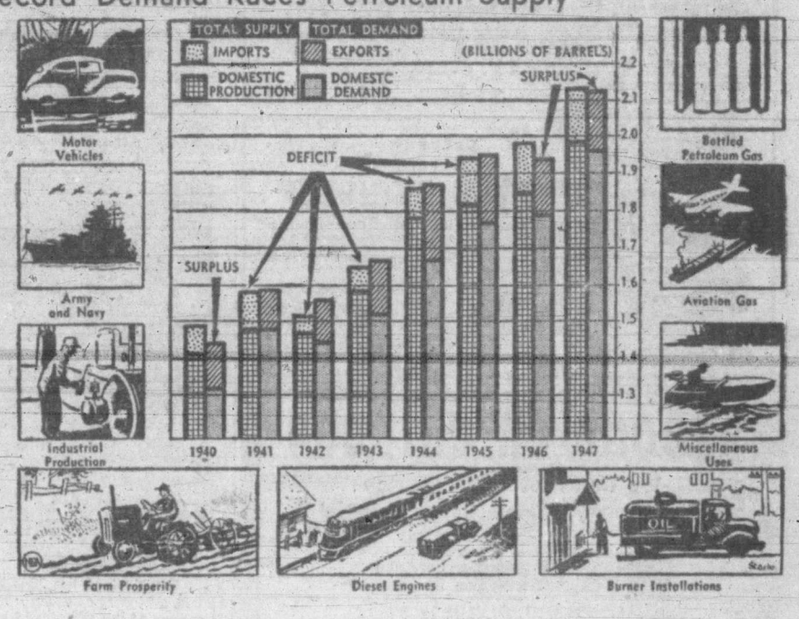
From the wallets and purses of Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Yarrow and their daughter the burglar secured $100 in cash. They were in the bedrooms of their 925 Foul Bay Road home. Also missing is a toaster, an electric wall clock and a portable radio.

Before departing the burglar drained a decanter of whisky. Entry was gained by forcing a window.

While the occupants of F. W. Fraser's home at 2 Foul Bay Road slept, the house was entered and robbed. Missing is an electric mixer, office and car keys, a silver cigarette case and a $2 bill.

Oak Bay has been the main target of the "cat burglar" since he started operations in their area. Esquimalt has been next favorite choice. Saanich had one visit.

Record Demand Races Petroleum Supply



Only by speeding petroleum production to the utmost can oil men avoid being swamped by the record demand now lapping at their heels. The chart above, based on American Petroleum Institute figures, compares demand (not to be confused with actual consumption) with supply since 1940. Postwar demand is larger than in the war years. Sketches show the nine greatest users of petroleum. Abnormal increase in their demands, plus distribution troubles, are what cause today's local shortages. The U.S. Army and navy, for instance, say they'll need 249,800 barrels a day in 1948; its farm tractors will use an estimated 2,821,000,000 gallons during the year.

Dog Notes

By PETER BOGGS

Years ago primitive law enforcement officers for some reason assumed that dogs were man's equal in intelligence and held them just as responsible as a human being if they broke a law. Here is how they reasoned. For example, if a dog had bitten a person without first barking a warning, the animal was considered to have committed a willful act of violence. And yet, if the dog had barked first, well, then it was deemed that the dog had acted in self defense.

Such beliefs are still held in certain sections of the world today. In Africa, dogs belonging to some tribal natives that are caught stealing food are hanged. The animals are left suspended from a tree limb near the village square as an example and a warning to other dogs and human tribal members who might be inclined to take property that does not belong to them.

GIVING LIQUID MEDICINE

At times it is necessary to give dogs liquid medicines. If such be the case, do not lift the dog's head too high, because the fluid may seep into his lungs instead of his stomach, thereby causing pneumonia and death. In fact you need not pour liquid medicines down a dog's throat, or even open his mouth. Simply pull out the cheek and drop the fluid down inside of his lower lip, so that he will be compelled to swallow the medicine in a normal manner.

CITY DOGS BETTER OFF THAN COUNTRY DOGS

All who have been concerned over the kind of life a dog leads in the city may take comfort. At a recent annual convention of the American Veterinary Medical Association held in New York, it was reported that a city dog lives longer, and is less susceptible to diseases than those which have the privilege of frolicking in the country.

The average life span of dogs kept in the city is about 11 years; of those kept in the country about 9. The longer life of the city slickers is attributed to superior care and the fact that their country cousins are exposed to many disadvantages with which the city dog does not have to contend. Country dogs are subject to all kinds of climatic changes, irritations acquired by contacts with harmful vegetation and parasites, such as ticks and other blood-sucking insects. It is also believed that a city dog is less inhabited by fleas, the carriers of many of the germs that attack our canine friends.

I am not going to dispute the figures and theories advanced at the convention, but even if there were a chance for my own dogs to live in the city, I for one shall continue to keep my pets in the country where they can roam and frolic and have a better chance of dying from old age and have less chance of being killed by an automobile.

CHECK DOG NOW FOR WORMS

Now is a good time to have your dog checked by a veterinarian for worms. Dogs should be wormed before cold weather sets in. A dog given worm medicine is normally weakend and more likely during cold weather to catch a serious cold that may prove fatal.

I heartily endorse the program of having a dog checked by a vet at least twice a year. Though your dog may appear in perfect health a competent veterinarian may detect and correct some ailment before it affects your pet's well being.

Though puppies are more susceptible to worms, older dogs also suffer from these parasites. In fact a dog may be absolutely free from worms today, and two months from now be infested with them. Worms are the cause of many dog troubles; that is why I advise you to have your pet checked regularly.

SMART DOG

Some time or other most humans have gone into a nearby drug store for treatment of a minor injury, either to have the druggist dress a small cut or perhaps to have a cinder removed from the eye. In Atlanta, Georgia, a little rough-haired terrier was recently struck a glancing blow by an automobile while crossing the street. He picked himself up and limped a bock and a half to the nearest drug store, entered and whined in front of the counter until a clerk noticed him and his damaged leg. The man treated and dressed the wound, and the terrier responded with a happy "thank you" wag of his tail. Then he turned, bounded gleefully out of the store and disappeared down the street.

THE QUESTION BOX

Question: You recently recommended that a pinch of salt be put in a dog's food. Should this de bone every day?—R.K.

Answer: The use of iodized salt is recommended to maintain the iodine content of the animal's system. If you will do it once a week regularly it will be sufficient. All that is needed is just a pinch.

Question: Is it possible for a dog to be infested with worms and this condition not be apparent to his owner?—T.G.C.

Answer: Yes, there are some types of worms that can only be discovered by a microscopic examination. That is one reason why I recommend that your dog be examined at least once a year by a veterinarian.

Flag Raised In Red Cross Ceremony

This year's drive by the Canadian Red Cross Society to raise $3,000,000 for the continuance of its work was opened in Victoria this morning at a flag-raising ceremony on the Causeway. The Red Cross banner was hoisted to the top of the flagpole at Government and Belleville Streets where it will fly until the campaign closes at the end of the month.

"The Red Cross is not only the symbol of relief and mercy to millions; it is also the emblem under which thousands of volunteer workers willingly and cheerfully serve," one Red Cross official remarked following the brief ceremony.

"The canvassers who start their rounds this morning have a hard task," he said. "It is hoped the citizens will receive them well and will give all the support they can to this year's Red Cross campaign."

Canvassers will make house-to-house calls during the forthcoming weeks but donations may be taken direct to the campaign headquarters in Prince Robert House.

Objective of this year's campaign in the Greater Victoria area is $40,000. The quota set for the province is $300,000.

Fire Destroys Flin Flon Theatre With $100,000 Loss

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP) — Losses estimated unofficially at $100,000 were caused here Sunday night by a fire—worst in the history of this northern Manitoba mining town—that destroyed the Rex Theatre and threatened to spread to adjoining buildings before it was brought under control.

Theatre manager Sol Nathanson, who occupied living quarters in the theatre building, said the fire broke out while he was at dinner in a nearby restaurant. He said everything was in "perfect order" when he took his departure.

Every available piece of fire-fighting apparatus was brought into play to fight the flames. Equipment of the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co. also was used in addition to that of the town. Firemen had the flames under control about four hours after the outbreak.

The theatre was unoccupied at the time although manager Nathanson had intended, on his return from eating, to start preparations for the handling of the usual midnight show.

Damage was confined virtually to the theatre building, the flames destroying a cigar store and several other shops on the ground floor. A hardware store on the northern side of the theatre had one of its walls singed, but was not damaged otherwise.

The DOCTOR Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

The winter is a particularly easy time for people to get cold sores, or what medical men call herpes simplex. This condition is known to be caused by a virus, which is a tiny living organism too small to see under an ordinary microscope. Probably the reason cold sores are more common in winter is because more people get run down physically at that time, and there are more infections going around.

Many people have occasional cold sores, and a few seem to have the trouble much of the time without any obvious reason. These sores are watery blisters on the skin, appearing particularly near the junction between the skin and the mucuous membrane of the lips or nose.

Cold sores are not highly contagious. When the resistance of a person is lowered by exhaustion, infectious disease, or by something else, susceptibility to the virus is increased and cold sores are particularly likely to occur.

Recovery from a cold sore occurs without any particular treatment in a few days. Those unfortunate people, however, who have one cold sore right after another are more annoyed by the slight symptoms and disfigurement which is with them constantly. One attack does not increase resistance, but rather predisposes to the occurrence of another sore in the same spot or near by.

SIMPLE TREATMENT

Several people, who seemed susceptible to repeated attacks, were vaccinated against smallpox and afterwards stayed free of cold sores for a long time. Smallpox is also a virus disease, and it is possible that the smallpox vaccination raised the resistance to the cold sores, though why this should occur is not known.

The treatment of an ordinary cold sore is simple. During the blister stage a simple drying application, such as spirits of camphor or calamine lotion, is usually helpful. When the blister has broken and a crust has formed, a mild ointment, such as heavy cold cream, may help to soften the crusts. Exposure to cold air, and especially to the sun, generally makes the symptoms somewhat worse and seems to delay healing.

Pioneer Operator Dies

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Nathaniel W. Lillie, 91, one of New England's first telephone operators, died Saturday night. Lillie, an acquaintance of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, joined the company in October, 1877, and retired in 1914.

Authors Join In Poetry Discussion

Some advice to writers of verse was given by Miss Audrey Alexandra Brown at a poetry panel discussion held at the monthly meeting of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Authors' Association on Friday night.

The distinguished local poet advised those who aspired to write verse to read poetry by all poets and of all kinds, and to note their various methods of expression. From her own extensive experience she found herself unable to give any counsel of rapid perfection. First efforts might well prove crude and unsatisfactory, but by perseverance better expression could be attained.

The other members of the panel were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Maunsell, Miss Eugenie Perry and J. T. Williamson.

Mr. Williamson dealt with "Ideals in poetry." He held that there was poetic material in everything seen or read that stirred the emotion for expression.

Miss Perry spoke of the difference between poetry and prose. Some poetry was prose and some prose was great poetry. She defended modern free verse as a change from established forms, and held that even with its apparent irregularity the poetic cadence could be heard.

Mr. Maunsell spoke of "form in poetry." All poetry should have form to contain it, and he described the different techniques.

Pastel Shaded Gowns Worn By Four Bridal Attendants

Four attendants in pastel gowns accompanied Karen Elvie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Gustafson, 1008 Tillicum Road, as she came down the aisle of Emmanuel Baptist Church Friday evening to become the bride of Lewis Walter Eilers, only son of Mr. F. L. Eilers, 2815 Prior Street, and the late Mr. Eilers. Rev. W. McKay performed the ceremony in a setting of spring flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white satin with net yoke, edged with satin scallops and gathered skirts. Her embroidered veil was fastened to a beaded coronet in her hair. A single strand of pearls and a bouquet of pink roses, white camelias and carnations centred with a mauve orchid completed her ensemble.

Her attendants were her sister, Mrs. Ruth Baron, who wore a pink sheer gown featuring an embroidered yoke and bishop sleeves, and carried pink tulips, heather and violets; Miss Lois Weeks, wearing yellow sheer over taffeta with cap sleeves, and carrying a bouquet of blue iris, narcissi and daffodils; and Miss Shirley Johnson, in pale blue taffeta with scalloped neckline and cap sleeves, whose flowers were tulips and daffodils. All wore coronets of flowers in their hair to match their bouquets.

Little Lorell Buchanan was flower girl, wearing a dress of pale pink sheer with puff sleeves, and flowers in her hair to match her colonial bouquet.

Best man was Harold Van Essen and ushering were John Gustafson and Elmer Baron, brother and brother-in-law of the bride.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. John Loudon, aunt of the groom, sang "Because."

Mrs. Gustafson and Mrs. Eilers assisted in receiving guests at a reception at the Goblin Ballroom, where a toast to the bride was proposed by John Loudon. A three-tier wedding cake bedded in pink tulle and flanked by lighted pink tapers, was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Walter Eilers acted as master of ceremonies.

On leaving for a honeymoon in Vancouver and Seattle, the bride chose a dove-grey crepe dress with dark green tailored coat, grey hat and accessories and orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Eilers will return to make their home in Victoria.

James Bay—Regular meeting of James Bay P.T.A. will be held in South Park School, Tuesday at 8. Discussion led by Dr. Henrietta Anderson. Subject: "Discipline in the Home and School." Refreshments will be served.

Eileen Peake Wed To R. A. Jeffery

Against a floral background of tulips and daffodils, Rev. G. Reynolds heard the marriage vows in Emmanuel Baptist church Feb. 21 of Eileen Brenda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peake, Dencross Terrace, Saanichton, and Robert Allan Jeffery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Jeffery, Saanichton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned with bodice of white embossed satin and full skirt of nylon. A scalloped waistband contrasted with the fitted bodice, and short puff sleeves were complemented by long white gloves. Her embroidered veil was held in place by a sweetheart headdress, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

As matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. Gwen Wells, wore turquoise brocaded taffeta with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, puff sleeves and full skirt. Another sister, Miss Dorothy Peake, wore pink brocaded taffeta, fashioned indentically to that of the matron of honor.

Both wore long gloves and floral headdresses, and carried bouquets of pink carnations and iris.

Third attendant was Miss Marion Peake, flower girl, a niece of the bride, who wore a floor-length gown of green taffeta and carried a colonial bouquet.

Sid Smethurst acted as best man, and ushers were Jack Peake and Charles Salsbury.

Soloist during the ceremony was Rod Dunn, who sang "Because."

Parents of the bride and groom assisted in receiving guests at a reception held at the Goblin Hall, decorated with spring flowers for the occasion. Bert Andrews proposed a toast to the bride, and music for dancing was provided by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wakefield of Sidney.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery spent their honeymoon in Vancouver and plan to make their home in Saanichton.

Princess Elizabeth Soon To Become 'Navy Widow'

LONDON (AP) — Prince Philip will soon make his bride of a few months a "navy widow."

Leaving Princess Elizabeth on her own in Kensington Palace, he will move from his Admiralty post to the Royal Navy Staff College in Greenwich for a half-year's special training which includes study of Empire affairs.

The college is only five miles from the heart of London, but Philip, like any other student, must obey the rule that all students live on the grounds—without their wives.

The separation, the Royal couple's first for more than a day since their wedding in November, will be broken only by week-end reunions, an occasional evening together and the few Royal ceremonies the Prince must attend.

Philip will enter Greenwich in late March with one other naval lieutenant. They are the first of such junior rank ever to win appointment to this all-round training course.

Even the heiress to the throne must bow to the navy's rigid conventions.

One of these bars her, when visiting Philip at Greenwich, from dining with him in the mess hall. Nevertheless, a Buckingham Palace official said, the Princess is bound to call at Greenwich a few times — probably for officially sponsored dances.

"No special privileges of any kind will be granted to either of them," they added, "and certainly none is expected."

Veil Of Heirloom Lace Worn By Bride At Saturday Wedding

An heirloom veil of Limerick lace, worn by the great-great-great-grandmother of the groom, was worn by Lillian Betty Nan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts, 1494 Ocean View Road, as she exchanged marriage vows Saturday evening with John Bernard Crozier Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Crozier Smith, 1121 Faithful Street.

The service was solemnized by Rev. T. L. Leadbeater in Christ Church Cathedral. Mr. Roberts gave his daughter in marriage.

A period gown of white French moire taffeta over white nylon was chosen by the bride, fashioned in off-the-shoulder lines with yoke of fine white lace. The fitted bodice was enhanced by a very full skirt falling from padded hipline into the graceful folds of a full train. A small motif of seed pearls outlined the shoulderline and lily point sleeves. Her veil was held with a tiara of tiny seed pearls and her bouquet was of gardenias and pink roses.

Cerise velvet period gowns were worn by the three attendants, Mrs. Dorothy Roberts, maid of honor, Miss Betty Jolleys and Mrs. E. F. Piper. Each wore a band of ruffled velvet in their hair with a sprig of white freesias, and matching full length mitts. They carried small velvet muffs topped with gardenias.

Norman McClellan stood with the groom, and ushers were Earl F. Piper, and John Bradford.

At a reception at Cherry Bank Hotel following the ceremony Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Crozier Smith assisted the young couple in receiving guests. Spring flowers decorated the rooms, and white tapers flanked the wedding cake. A toast to the bride was proposed by P. J. Piper of Nanaimo, and Miss Grace Adams sang "O Promise Me."

Mr. and Mrs. Crozier Smith, who will make their home at 2172 Lafayette Street, have left for a honeymoon in Santa Barbara and Los Angeles.

For traveling the bride wore a gabardine suit of soft green with matching hat. Her burgundy barathea topcoat matched burgundy alligator bag and shoes. A squirrel neckpiece and two tiny brown orchids completed her ensemble.

Metchosin Girl Married Friday

Member of a pioneer Metchosin family, Muriel Grace, youngest daughter of Mr. Lee W. Field, exchanged marriage vows Friday with William Fesuk, Athabasca. Dr. Hugh A. McLeod officiated at the ceremony in First United Church, while J. Ingram Smith presided at the organ. Daffodils and ferns formed an attractive setting.

The bride, wearing a turquoise crepe frock with peplum and white organdie straw halo hat, entered the church on the arm of her father. A corsage bouquet of freesias and carnations completed her ensemble.

Mrs. George Bligh attended her sister as matron of honor, and Mr. Bligh attended the groom as best man.

Following the service guests adjourned to the church hall, where Dr. McLeod proposed a toast to the bride and groom. A buffet supper was served, after which Mrs. A. Morgan, Sidney, played the piano for community singing.

Later the young couple left for Vancouver, where they will reside.

HISTORIC MEDICAL HIGHLIGHTS—No. 44

DEATH DEALING DOMESTICS

PASSAGE of the Federal Pure Food and Drug Act of 1906 was a great achievement, with great medical significance. This Act led directly to the high standards of purity so generally prevailing today, and tremendously aided doctors in their fight against illness. But then—as today—the integrity of those who serve you is the most important factor in protecting your family's health. This is a responsibility that Pharmacy—as well as Medicine—assumes . . . and with pride.

The various commercial drug preparations which we sell are selected and sold with thought and knowledge comparable to that involved in our filling of prescriptions. That's why you benefit by filling all drug store needs here.

The Better To See Them

Customers at New York's Sheraton Hotel lounge don't have any trouble spotting a waitress in a crowd. Not since the girls have been wearing these new transparent nylon net outfits. Waitresses Mary Bender, left, of Anderson, Ind., and Margie McPherson of Greenville, S.C., model the "uniforms."

Dorothy Dix

LEAP YEAR IS GIRL'S CHANCE

Dear Miss Dix: There is a man with whom I am associated in business. We are both in our middle forties. We have the same eeducation, personalities, social standards, about the same amount of property and we also do the same type of work. Neither of us ever have been married. We frequently go out together and enjoy each other's society greatly.

The question is: Would it be proper for me to suggest marriage, so we could be together and enjoy having a good home? The problem is up to me, for I know he never will propose. I feel that we would be very congenial and happy.

SALLY ANNE

Answer: It is Leap Year, Sally Anne, and that gives you your chance. Take it. Pop the question and the chances are dollars to doughnuts that he will say yes.

Many a man is a lonely old bachelor simply because he was too shy ever to ask the girl he wanted to marry him. He couldn't summon up courage to tell Sally Anne or Mary Jane or whatever her name was how much he loved her and wanted her, and he hung around and hung around without ever coming to the point. And she waited and waited for him to speak until she got tired and discouraged and married somebody else.

WOMEN NO LONGER TIMID

Anyway, women are not the timid creatures now that they used to be. When they want a thing they go after it. They don't waste their time in wishful waiting. So if you love this man and are pretty sure that he loves you, and both of you are at an age when you want to settle down and have a home of your own, why, I think you would be perfectly silly not to take advantage of your Leap Year privilege.

Brilliant Garter Ceremony For Elizabeth And Philip

LONDON (Reuter) — Full ceremonial regalia will be brought out for the first time since 1913 when Princess Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the throne, and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, are installed April 23 as Knights of the Garter, one of the most ancient orders of chivalry in Europe.

The ritual of installation into the 600-year-old order was revived after a lapse of 106 years when the Duke of Windsor, then Prince of Wales, took his place as a knight in 1911. Garter chapters were held in 1912 and 1913 in the chapel of the garter knight's St. George's, Windsor, but there has been no similar ceremony since the outbreak of the First World War.

Princess Elizabeth was invested with the order shortly before her wedding last November. She becomes the fourth lady of the garter, the others being her mother, Queen Elizabeth, her grandmother, Queen Mary, and Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands.

The service takes place just three months before the celebration of the order's 600th anniversary, and the King and Queen and other knights of the order will walk in procession from Windsor Castle to the chapel along a route lined by men of the household cavalry and foot guards.

The order was founded by King Edward III in the 13th century. Historians have generally agreed that his intention was to perpetuate the tradition of King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table. It is regarded as the highest order of chivalry in the world.

There are 26 knight companions of the Order of the Garter, including the King and the kings of Sweden, Norway, and Denmark.

Among the British knights are the Earl of Athlone, former Governor-General of Canada, and the Earl of Halifax.

Courtenay Requests Road To Ski Field Be Cleared Of Snow

COURTENAY—A request that the road to Forbidden Plateau ski fields be cleared of snow and kept open all the time, has been made by the Courtenay and Comox District Mountaineering Club and the Forbidden Plateau Ski Club to Hon E. C. Carson, minister of public works.

The clubs expressed fears that government inaction might impair development of Comox District's main winter attraction, since recent heavy snowfalls had completely blocked the road, which winds 13 miles up the mountainside west of Courtenay. A plan of road clearing has been forwarded to H. J. Welch, M.L.A., for presentation to Mr. Carson.

Two local contractors drew up the plan and stated that for $600 they would clear the road of snow and open it up to cars and buses, fill in with gravel and grade washouts occurring on switchbacks on the road. Other work they would undertake for the sum, would be the cutting of snow backs out from the upper side of the road and cleaning out snow tunks at corners to provide accommodation for future snow.

From Jan. 1 to Feb. 15 of this year 500 outside residents and 1,200 local residents have visited the ski fields, the club stated in their brief.

Management of Forbidden Plateau Lodge will undertake to keep the road free from snow for the balance of the season, if the government approves the $600 expenditure.

Besides his widow, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Vera Meyland of Shawnigan Lake; one son, Alfred E. Sutton, Victoria, and one sister, Mrs. F. G. Smithson of Vancouver, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's, Cobble Hill, Tuesday afternoon at 2.30, with Rev. E. M. Willis officiating. Interment will be at St. John's Cemetery. Arrangements are in the hands of the Davis Funeral Service.

Combined Chiefs Of Staff At Work In Washington For U.S., Britain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain are retaining in these days of uncertain peace the combined military high command that operated during most of the war.

Quartered in one of the most heavily-guarded sections of the Pentagon Building, with all but specially - approved visitors barred, is the headquarters of the "Combined Chiefs of Staff."

The only official description of the day to day work is terse: "The Combined Chiefs of Staff consider and decide questions deriving from the wartime co-operation of Great Britain and the United States."

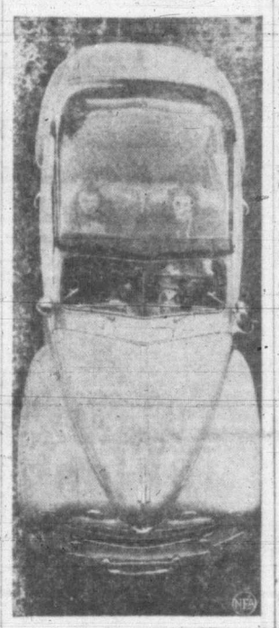
However, it is known the agency provides a clearing house for a direct exchange of ideas.

One of the more important postwar jobs of the joint organization has been an effort to standardize types and sizes of principal common weapons.

Along an adjacent corridor are the offices of the "Armed Forces Special Weapons Project" dealing with guided missiles, atomic weapons and other less-known instruments of destruction.

The combined chiefs are seven men, four from the United States, three from Britain. The American members are Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of state to the President; Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations; Gen. Omar N. Bradley, army chief of staff; and Gen. Carl Spaatz, Air Force chief of staff. British members are Admiral Sir Harry Hoore, Gen. Sir William Morgan and Air Chief Marshal Sir Guy Garrod.

The organization was created in February, 1942, as the result of an agreement between the late President Roosevelt and the then Prime Minister Churchill. President Truman has expressed belief the oragnization should be continued.



SKY-GAZERS—Bernice Bringman, right, and Phyllis Kent try out a new plexi-glass top that can be attached to the convertible coupe model Ford. The transparent unit, which allows windows to be rolled up and down in the usual manner, can be purchased and installed for about $235.

For Generations

Victorians' Choice For

Easy Living

SINCE 1884 when the first Times Want Ads were printed, over three generations of Victorians have chosen them to smooth the rough edges of everyday living. How well these tiny servants of the people have performed their task is illustrated by their wide acceptance and popular use today.

Down the years there's scarcely a purpose they haven't been called upon to accomplish, from spreading the glad tidings of engagements, weddings and births to recording the last personal notice, at death.

They're entrusted daily with the most confidential messages, and deliver them unerringly to those for whom they're meant. Their words are read by thousands every day in search of the latest news about what's for sale, and what's wanted to buy. Workers watch them for good paying jobs; finders for identification of losers; and house-seekers for clues to quiet, comfortable quarters.

Experience for yourself how speedily, successfully and economically any need of yours may be filled by these small performers of big deeds. Just phone B 3131 to order your Times Want Ad.

Reo McCaslin Of San Francisco To Speak Here

Mr. McCaslin, Authorized Speaker for Technocracy Inc., from San Francisco, will speak at a mass meeting in the Lower Ballroom, Crystal Garden, on Tuesday, March 2, at 8 p.m. The title of his address will be "The Threat of Abundance."

Mr. McCaslin states "The fighting war is over. Its aftermath of prosperity has almost vanished, but the problems which plagued us before we set out to make the world safe for democracy are all returning in an aggravated form. During the hungry thirties we did not know how to handle an abundance, and now we are threatened with an even greater abundance on this North American continent."

This Technocracy speaker has made a close study of the conditions which face us, and poses these questions for all North Americans to consider: "How shall we deal with this abundance?" "Shall we destroy it in another war?" "Shall we prevent it by not producing it?" "Shall we pay the rest of the world to take it off our hands, or, shall we consume it ourselves?" This is a challenge to every intelligent North American to attend and hear Technocracy's answer to these vital questions.

Tickets are available at Section Headquarters, corner of Douglas and Kings Road, or from any Technocrat. ***

Among many southern Democrats to snub the famous $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson dinner, Senator Olin D. Johnston .D.-S.C., is served dinner at his Washington, D.C., home by Mrs. Johnston, vice-chairman of Washington committee, who sold tickets to the dinner. Directly in front of the rostrum from which the U.S. President spoke was the sole empty table at the main dinner in the Mayflower Hotel. It bore the notation, "Table 23, reserved for Senator Olin D. Johnston and party."

Scottish Retain Chance For Senior Rugger Crown

Canadian Scottish senior rugby squad moved to within two points of the loop-leading J.B.A.A. squad Saturday when they edged Victoria College, 10 to 8, in a hard-fought encounter at Macdonald Park. Should the Scots defeat Bays in the final match March 27, a playoff for second-half honors would be in the offing.

Although the ground was treacherous in spots, teams put on a good display before the mediocre crowd on hand, but missed several opportunities to add to the score by some faulty ball handling.

Captain George Biddle counted the only try of the first half five minutes from the breather, and Harry Olsen made it 5 to 0 for Scots when he made good the conversion from a difficult angle.

Taking advantage of a Scottish fumble behind the line, Vikings counted their first points early in the second half when Jack Gibbs, back in action after suffering a shoulder injury, missed a penalty kick, but agile Bob Dunlop raced over the line with a try when the Scots failed to catch the attempted spot kick. Gibbs tied the score with his dead-on conversion. Students put up a desperate attack for the next 10 minutes in an attempt to forge into the lead, but they could not pierce the solid defence thrown up by the Scottish. Midway through, Cece Smith put the soldiers ahead when he fell on the ball just over the left wing corner. Olsen again booted the difficult conversion attempt for what proved to be the winning points.

Collegians scored their final points on the best play of the afternoon five minutes later when Geoff d'Easum and Gibbs set up Peter Berram after a lively running attack. Dunlop's conversion attempt fell short.

In an intermediate tussle Saturday, Oak Bay Wanderers edged Victoria College, 6 to 3, to capture the Heyland Cup for the intermediate title. For Oak Bay, it was their ninth straight victory without a defeat, and the squad will wear the city's colors in the provincial final to be played here at a later date. Other intermediate tussle saw Navy down J.B.A.A., 12 to 3.

Seattle Ironmen Cinch Northern Division Title

Seattle's Ironmen hung a "private property" sign on the Pacific Coast Ice Hockey League's northern division championship today.

The Ironmen won it last night by cuffing the second spot Tacoma Rockets 3 to 2 and moving 13 points ahead with six games remaining.

In the southern division the rising San Diego Skyhawks came within a point of third place by taming San Francisco 4 to 3.

At Portland, the Eagles were dumped deeper into the northern division cellar by the New Westminster Royals, 4 to 3.

Walt Dorohoy's shot on a pass from Cy Rouse won at Seattle for the Ironmen, breaking a 2 to 2 deadlock after 15.19 minutes of the third period.

Willie Schmidt scored unassisted in the third to give the Royals their 4 to 3 triumph over Portland.

Aussie Dropkick Specialist Wins Wrestling Feature

Little Tommy Nilan, Australian drop-kick specialist, came up from down-under in the featured bout of Saturday night's wrestling show at the Bay Street Armories to win over his opponent Paava Ketonan, Finland champ.

Nilan put on a show of acrobatics for mat fans in the first round but turned to wrestling in the second only to be pinned down by his slightly heavier opponent. Nilan was awarded the equalizer in the fourth, however, after being the subject of foul tactics.

Victory came to the Aussie when he felled the Finnish ace in the fourth.

Buck Liscombe, self-proclaimed "Indiana Wonder," took an unpopular decision over Chief Lone Wolf in the fifth round of a scheduled six-round bout. Liscombe proved to be the villain of the piece early in the opening stanza by kicking his Indian opponent when ordered to break by the referee.

Liscombe took the first fall of the bout late in the second round after a long session of twisting the Chief's left arm.

The Chief came roaring back in the third round with such gusto Liscombe saw fit to climb out of the ring. The chief, however, would have none of it, reaching out he brought Liscombe back in a wide arc over the ropes and forced the wonder boy to concede a fall after applying an Indian death lock.

The Chief lost out in the fourth round, however, when Liscombe again went to work on his left arm.

The preliminary bout between Jack Poppenheim of Portland and Vic Short of Seattle proved popular with the crowd although the result was a draw.

J.B.A.A., Gremlins Win Junior Six-Man Grid Tilts

Brock Whitney's J.B.A.A. six-man grid squad rolled to a 13 to 7 victory over Oak Bay Goblins and Oak Bay Gremlins turned back St. Louis College, 20 to 13, in the double bill at Central Park yesterday afternoon.

J.B.A.A. took the lead in the first half of the tilt with Goblins when Cole intercepted McLaren's pass and raced to the Goblin 40-yard line. On the next play Coles tossed a 25-yard aerial to Milligan for the score. Lindon ran the ball over for the extra point.

McLaren's pass to Henderson enabled Goblins to square the count in the third period. McLaren's pass to Hope was good for the conversion.

Following a march down field from their own 10-yard line to the Goblins 20-yard strip J.B.A.A. scored the winning touchdown with Tom Ballard skirting end on a reverse from Dale.

A 98-yard march down the field in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter gave Gremlins victory over St. Louis College. Johnson's pass to Olsen accounted for the winning touchdown. Johnson passed to Higgs for the convert.

College led 7 to 6 at the close of the first quarter on Bernie Clarkson's touchdown and a conversion by passing from French to O'Brien. Johnson's pass to Auchinvole was good for Gremlin's major score. Higgs scored the second Gremlin touchdown with a beautiful 40-yard run but Clarkson evened matters with a 95-yard gallop from the kickoff.

Mustangs won the third game by default when Combines failed to put in an appearance.

Talon Once Mistaken For Saddle Pony

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—A certain groom back at New York's Belmont Park will be astonished to hear that a horse he mistook for a saddle pony in 1946 is none other than the 1948 winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

And movie magnate Louis B. Mayer, although retired from racing, already knows he made a mistake when he sold this same horse to wealthy R. N. Ryan of New York for $37,000.

For this horse is Talon, the new pride of his native Argentina—and ex-turfman Mayer sat in his box and watched Talon whip 13 rivals in the big race last Saturday, which was worth $102,500 to the winner.

Canadian Legion Wins Senior Soccer Title

Canadian Legion captured the Garrison Cup, emblematic of the senior soccer league championship, at Athletic Park yesterday afternoon by thumping a scrappy but inexperienced Victoria West eleven, 6 to 3.

Midge Pennington, Vets inside left, starred for the winners as he counted three goals, one in the first half and two in the final 45 minutes.

Legion took a 3 to 0 lead in the first 10 minutes of the game on markers by McCartney, Pickup and Pennington as Wests had a hard time keeping the Vets at bay.

Gordie Cooper put Wests back in the running about the 20-minute mark when he scored on a penalty kick. Hope scored Wests' second goal soon after on a long shot that eluded Holt in the Legion net to give Vets a 3 to 2 lead at the breather.

Following the intermission Legion increased the lead to 6 to 2 when McCartney again finding the net and Pennington adding the final two goals. Pennington's final goal was a brilliant effort as he went through alone to pick the lower corner of the net. Dallimore scored Wests' final tally shortly before the end of the game when his long shot deflected off a Legion back into the net past the startled Holt.

PLAY TO DRAW

Oak Bay and Esquimalt fought to a 3 to 3 draw in a McGavin Cup knockout tilt Saturday. Stan Wiseman's penalty shot in the final minute of play enabled the Oak Bay squad to pull the game out of the fire.

Art Young for Esquimalt and Don Robinson for Oak Bay counted goals in the opening half to leave the squads tied 1 to 1 at the intermission. Young scored his second goal for Esquimalt on a breakaway and Denny Shubrooke made it 3 to 1 minutes later on a cross from Gordie Creed.

Oak Bay fought back and were finally rewarded when Robinson beat Rowe with a lob shot. Wiseman then came through with the all-important game-tying marker.

Hornets Drop To Second Place In Pro Basketball Loop

Standings of the Pacific Coast Professional Basketball League underwent a four-way shuffle after week-end games with only fifth place Tacoma unchanged.

Bellingham surged back into the lead with a 90 to 77 win over Seattle as Vancouver came out with only a split at Tacoma. The Canadians took a 49 to 41 decision Saturday but dropped a 56 to 52 overtime verdict Sunday as Irv Leifer potted three goals in the extra frame.

Seattle fell into fourth place with an 88 to 80 loss to Portland. Big Noble Jorgenson, Portland centre, caught fire with a 40-point splurge.

Standings follow:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Bellingham	9	5	.643
Vancouver	8	5	.615
Portland	8	8	.500
Seattle	6	7	.462
Tacoma	3	9	.250

Eagles' Soccer Squad Blanks Transfermen

Eagles first division soccer squad continued their supremacy over Heaney's yesterday with a convincing 4 to 0 verdict over the transfermen. Fred McAvey with two, Ron Pearce, and Den McGee counted the birdmen's markers.

In another first division match, Esquimalt edged the Marigold-Colquitz eleven, 3 to 2, after the suburbanites had taken a 2 to 0 lead on goals by Paterson and Stranaghan. Smith, Bertrand, and Plant were the goal-getters for Esquimalt.

The division five title went to Balmoral Thistles Saturday, when they whitewashed the Burnside entry, 5 to 0. Gordon Carey and Craig Massie notched two apiece, with Ronnie Sage counting the other goal.

In a division four encounter, Esquimalt Transfer eked out a 3 to 2 win over St. Louis College, and Vets of France won by default over Quarter Cab in a division two match.

Oak Bay, Thistles Draw In Cup Match

Battling to a one-all overtime draw at Windsor Park Saturday, Oak Bay and Saanich Thistles showed that the battle for the Fred Oliver Memorial Trophy has all the earmarks of being a duplicate of last year's struggle for supremacy between the two squads. Last week, the teams finished in a 2 to 2 stalemate.

Goalie Ken Richards played a sensational game for Bays, turning aside shot after shot. Johnny Rive gave Oak Bay a 1 to 0 lead, with Eric Coles deadlocking the score for Thistles in the second half. Five minutes from time, Bays counted again, but the goal was disallowed, and teams battled through two overtime periods without producing another marker. Ted Hawkes and Smith were the pick of the Saanich squad.

R.C.A.F. Flyers Whip Czechs; Team Ordered Home By Ottawa

PARIS (Reuter) — R.C.A.F. Flyers, Canadian Olympic hockey champions, overwhelmed Czechoslovakia 8 to 4 Saturday night in the opening game of an international tournament which ends March 6.

Ab Renaud led the Canadians with three goals while Pete (Lucky) Leichnitz and playing coach Frank Boucher each notched a pair. Red Hibberd rounded out the scoring.

The Canadians completely dominated the Czech team which did not include any Olympic players but was a strongly representative club.

The Flyers, arriving here yesterday from an unbeaten six-game tour of Czechoslovakia, showed surprising strength despite the absence of their Olympic stars, Wally Halder and George Mara, who have returned to Canada.

Most of the slack caused by their absence was taken up by coach Boucher who was ineligible for Olympic competition.

In another game, France's representative, Racing Club De Paris, edged Scotland 3 to 2.

The Canadians will play Scotland next Wednesday and the Racing Club March 6. The four-country tournament is a round-robin affair. In the event of a tie in the standing, the best goals-for-and-against average decides the winner.

TEAM RAILROADED

Meanwhile, it was learned from reliable sources close to the Canadians, that the Flyers have received cabled instructions from Defence Minister Brooke Claxton to leave for home by March 5. These sources said the Canadian squad fears it is being "railroaded" into the Allan Cup playoffs. Coach Boucher said he did not want to see his team in Allan Cup play and was sure the Flyers felt the same way.

The Flyers are scheduled to sail for Canada in mid-April. They have an extensive series of games scheduled for Britain from mid-March to mid-April, the proceeds of which are earmarked to finance the return trip.

Canadian Curling Championships Open At Calgary Today

CALGARY (CP) — Some 4,000 fans from throughout the Dominion today will crowd into the Calgary Arena for the opening day's play of the Canadian curling championship with 10 provincial rinks participating in a nine-round playoff.

Enthusiasm, never quiet since since the visiting rinks first reached here during the week-end, grew tremendously last night with the announcement of the draws for the competition which winds up next Thursday night.

After each team early today went through an eight-end practice round against local and outside curling talent attending the championship affair, the skips paraded their players to the arena for a brief ceremony before they lined up for the opening round, which pits Prince Edward Island against British Columbia; Quebec vs. Northern Ontario; Alberta vs. Nova Scotia; Saskatchewan vs. Manitoba; and Ontario vs. New Brunswick.

Servants, James Bay Win Senior Hockey

Play in the Victoria and District Roller Hockey League yesterday saw Civil Service edge Vic West, 4 to 3, and James Bay Argos defeat Oak Bay 1 to 0, in the senior loop. In a hard-fought junior league contest, J.B.A.A. eked out a 2 to 1 win over Beacon Hill.

Juvenile contests saw South Park blank Oak Bay, 3 to 0 and Oaklands and Vic West battle to a 1 to 1 overtime stalemate.

R.A.F. Cricket Club Names Officials

At a meeting of the ex-R.A.F. Cricket Club at the City Hall Saturday, Albert Jagger was named captain of the team, and Bernard Shaw was nominated secretary-treasurer.

Officials decided to raise funds for new equipment by sponsoring several social gatherings. Any R.A.F. men arriving here interested in playing cricket are asked to contact Shaw at G 7570.

Maple Leafs Retain Lead; Hawks Move Up

With the league leaders matching strides over the week-end, the most decisive National Hockey League results were those which saw the fifth-place Montreal Canadiens losing two games and the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks splitting even.

The results brought the Black Hawks out of the N.H.L. cellar and now they're tied for fifth place with Canadiens. But both are still seven points behind Boston Bruins, who hold the fourth and last qualifying position for the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Saturday, the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs beat Chicago 4 to 3, while the second-place Detroit Red Wings trimmed Canadiens 5 to 2. On Sunday, New York Rangers topped Canadiens 5 to 3 in a bruising struggle at New York, while the Hawks walloped Boston Bruins 5 to 1 at Chicago.

At Toronto Saturday the Hawks actually rolled up a 2 to 0 lead before the Leafs got going. Gus Bodnar and Bill Gadsby scored the first two. Then Leafs got four in a row, extending over the second and third periods, with goals for Max Bentley, Nick Metz, Syl Apps and Joe Klukay. Gadsby's second goal was the only other score.

WINGS KEEP PACE

At Montreal Saturday the Detroit goals were divided between Bill Quackenbush, Ted Lindsay, Jimmy McFadden, Pete Horeck and Gordon Howe. Maurice Richard and Howard Riopelle scored for Canadiens.

Rene Trudell returned to the Ranger line-up Sunday night to score the first New York goal against Canadiens. Ed Kullman scored twice and Tony Leswick and Buddy O'Connor got the others. Murph Chamberlain, Billy Reay and Elmer Lach scored for Canadiens, all within four minutes in the second period.

The victory for Chicago over Boston Sunday boosted Charlie Conacher's revived Hawks into the lead in total goals scored, 156 to 165 for Detroit. Roy Conacher scored two of them and earned an assist besides. Bud Poile, Alex Kaleta and Metro Prystai were the other Chicago scorers. Pete Babando tallied Bruins' only goal while the Hawks were shorthanded.

United Edges North Shore; Travis Stars

Sparked by the brilliant net minding performance of captain Joe Travis, playing his first game between the posts for some time, Victoria United Saturday afternoon partly avenged last week's shellacking at the hands of Vancouver City by turning back North Shore, 2 to 1, in a Pacific Coast League soccer match at Athletic Park before a crowd of 1,200.

"Jumping Joe" was the sharpest player on the field and in the second half particularly came up with one of the best goaltending jobs of the season. He saved numerous tallies from the ever-dangerous North Shore forwards, cleared well and was an inspiration to his injury-riddled mates.

United with Reg Clarkson back at centre-forward and Alan Reside starting at the left fullback position, proved the more dangerous of the two elevens in the first 45 minutes, scoring twice and missing three other opportunities that could well have meant goals.

Clarkson banged home the first goal at the six-minute mark by pushing the sphere past McKay with his knee after the Reds goaltender had failed to handle Alvin Parks' booming shot cleanly. Jack Scott scored the second marker halfway through the first half when he took a neat pass from Red McMillan through the middle and beat McKay with a low shot to the corner of the net.

Minutes later Parks hit the cross bar on a terrific drive that had McKay well beaten but North Shore cleared without further damage. Andy Anderson was then robbed on a sizzler to the corner when McKay fell down and the ball bounced off his feet to be cleared by Cummings.

North Shore made several dangerous forays into United territory during the first half but Travis was always the stumbling block as he played his position perfectly.

North Shore took command of play with the start of the second half and except for sporadic rushes by the locals kept the ball almost continuously in United's half of the field. The Reds came close on several occasions but each time United's defence held or over-anxiousness on the part of the Reds' forwards saved the day.

Dave Brown skied over the bar on two occasions when it appeared that a goal was inevitable and one other try hit the upright with a hard drive. Jim Spencer, veteran half, scored North Shore's lone goal about 10 minutes from time on a long shot that caught the corner of the net just out of Travis' reach.

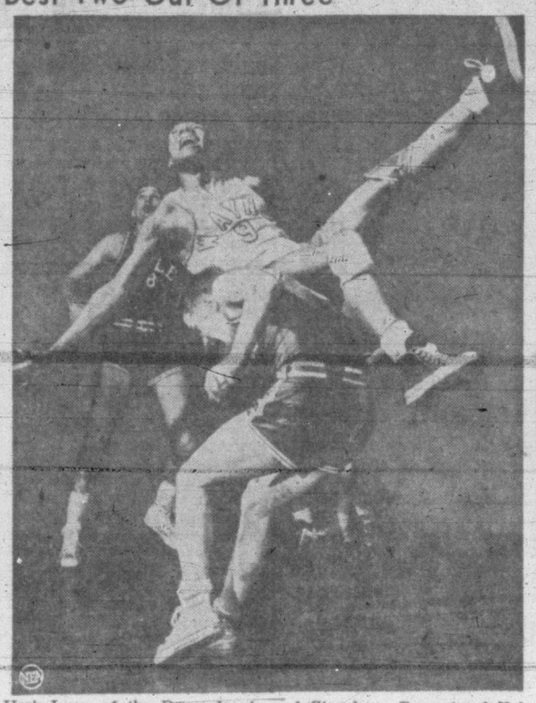
CITY WINS

Vancouver City moved into first place in the second-half standings by edging St. Andrews 3 to 2 at Vancouver.

Fred Whittaker scored two second-half goals for the winners as they came from behind a 2 to 1 deficit at half time for the triumph. Bob Hunter scored the first goal for the City eleven but George Steele squared the count on a pass from Matheson. Jim Greig counted St. Andrews other first-half marker.

Results put Vancouver City into a two-point lead over the other three clubs. United meets St. Andrews in Vancouver next Saturday.

Best Two Out Of Three



Herb Lyon of the Pennsylvania and Stansbury Peacock of Yale wrestle for the basketball so spiritedly in closing seconds that it almost resulted in a fight. Closing in to break it up are Philip Harman (14) of Penn, referee Joe Collins and Thomas Redden of Yale. Penn won 59 to 56.

No Extra Racing Will Be Requested For Hastings Park

VANCOUVER (CP) — Operators of Hastings Park race track here will not ask for extra days racing this season, despite cancellation of the 28-day card at Lansdowne.

General manager S. W. Randall of the Ascot Jockey Club, said today it would "take plenty of luck and hard work" to get Hastings, now being converted to a five-furlong track, ready in time for its own scheduled 28 days of racing.

Meanwhile, horsemen at Lansdowne and Brighouse plan to leave for Calgary, Portland and other racing points to prepare for the spring season.

Al Hardy, general manager of the B.C. Turf and Country Club which operates the Lansdowne and Brighouse tracks, earlier announced the tracks would not open this year unless provincial and Dominion governments reduced pari-mutuel taxes.

Major Baseball Clubs Open Spring Training

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball clubs today knuckled down to the serious business of getting into shape for the 1948 season by beginning their spring training programs.

Banned by a major league rule from starting spring training before March 1, the players will be forced to round into playing form quicker than usual.

All clubs were scheduled to hold workouts today and the athletes will have few breathing spells between now and the start of the regular season.

Beginning Saturday when Chicago Cubs and Chicago White Sox meet at Los Angeles, and Cleveland Indians and New York Giants battle at Tuscon, Ariz., the clubs will play a total of 378 "grapefruit" league games.

With the exception of Brooklyn Dodgers, all of the club nines are doing their training in the United States. The Dodgers are getting ready for the National League campaign at Ciudad Trujillo in the Dominican Republic.

With the arrival of spring training unsigned players can officially be classified as holdouts.

Among those who have failed to reach terms with their respective clubs are Johnny Vander Meer, Cincinnati; Pee Wee Reese, Ed Stanky and Bruce Edwards, Brooklyn; Buddy Kerr, Ken Trinkle and Bob Thomson, Giants, Harry Walker and Eddie Miller, Philadelphia Phillies; and Barney McCosky and Elmer Valo, Philadelphia Athletics.

Poile, Doug Bentley Gain In Hockey Scoring Race

Buddy O'Connor of New York retained his four-point lead over Toronto's Max Bentley as each earned a goal during the weekend, but a new threat for National League scoring honors came up in Norman (Bud) Poile of Chicago who added two points and now is only one behind Max. O'Connor has 53, Max 49, and Poile 48. Biggest gainer was Doug Bentley of the Hawks who collected three assists to move into a fourth-place tie with Montreal's Elmer Lach.

The leaders:

		G.	A.	Pts.

13-Year Old Quebec Girl Captures 3 Skiing Titles

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—A small band of eastern Canada's top skiers captured the lion's share of trophies in the four-day Canadian ski championship tournament, taking 11 of the 17 amateur titles.

Trophies were presented to the 1948 champions at a banquet here last night under the direction of Dave Spence of Vancouver, first vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association.

Lucille Wheeler, 13-year-old Olympic hope from St. Jovite, Que., carried off the largest number of individual awards, making a clean sweep of the three junior women's events and taking the runner-up medals in the three senior competitions.

Noel Paul of Princeton, B.C., won the coveted four-event Sir Henry Thornton trophy as the best all-around skier in the meet and also took the senior jumping trophy with two spectacular leaps of 191 and 192 feet in the final event of the meet Sunday.

Paul also was awarded the Sturdy trophy, emblematic of western Canada cross-country supremacy and Barbara Whyte of Banff won the western Canada ladies combined slalom and down-hill event.

Western skiers made a sensational comeback Saturday and Sunday to win the jumping, women's slalom, and men's junior slalom competitions after Peter Johnston of Montreal; Dorothy Burden, also of Montreal, Lauri Huuki of Sudbury, Ont., and Miss Wheeler had dominated the two opening days.

During the tournament, it was announced that the 1949 championships would be held at Fort William, Ont., and in the Laurentian ski zone with Fort William staging the cross-country and jumping events, while the slalom and down-hill titles will be decided in the Laurentians.

Service Station Operators Hard Hit By Gasoline Lack

Victoria service station operators, reporting they are hard pressed because of curtailment of gasoline deliveries, are hoping for provincial government action this week to boost the price of gasoline further.

Cliff Horwood, president of the Victoria branch of the service station operators' organization, reported today that some operators had lost up to $500 last month because gasoline sales, as well as tumbling themselves, had pulled down other parts of service station operations. Overhead expenses of the stations, he said, had remained the same, the operators being loath to let members of their staff go because it would be difficult to get them back later on.

Meanwhile Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the Oil and Petroleum Control Board, indicated today that his recommendations for a further increase in the price of gasoline may go to the government this week.

Dr. Carrothers last week filed the report of George A. Touche and Company, firm of chartered accountants checking oil companies importing refined gasoline. This was just a partial report, with details of the British-American Oil Co. Ltd. yet to be filed. It is expected these later details will be available this week. A fire in the company's operations in Toronto held up the making of the report on the operations of the B.A. Oil Company.

"There is no question about it it has hurt service station operators," said Mr. Horwood, speaking of the curtailment of gasoline supplies. "The rest of the operations have suffered in proportion."

The service station operators also have an application before the board for a 1-cent a gallon increase in their allowed mark-up. It is expected that the board's recommendations on this phase of the gasoline problem will also be made with that on the mark-up to cover the rising costs of imported refined gasoline.

The recent boost in gasoline prices was made only to cover the rising costs of crude oil. Oil companies claim that a further boost is necessary to cover the rising cost of refined gasoline and pending this increase they have curtailed deliveries of gasoline to service stations.

Dr. Carrothers has suggested that since complaints concerning the shortage of gasoline have only come to the board from the greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver areas, oil companies may be curtailing deliveries only in the coast region, but maintaining supplies in the interior.

He suggested that the reason behind this action may be to gain public support for increased prices, since the larger concentrations of car users in these areas would result in a more vociferous clamor for increased gasoline supplies.

War Amputations of Canada has written to the City Council asking members to support a resolution which asks for $100 month basic pension for 100 per cent disability veterans.

The B.C. Fire Chief's Association has asked the City Council to provide in the 1948 estimates for the attendance of the fire chief and other department members at the Fire College to be held in Kelowna this year.

March Entry Fails As Weather Prophet

According to an age-old prophecy March either comes in like a lamb and goes out like a lion or comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb. Which, of course, is just another way of saying if the weather is fine at the beginning of the month it will be bad at the end, and if the weather is bad at the beginning it will be fine at the end and there will be an early spring.

Today being March 1, observers were called upon to decide whether the weather was bad or fine. The decisions reached were not in accord.

Some said the wind was cold and the clouded sky was threatening rain. Others, noting the patches of blue in the sky, made much of the fact that it was not raining.

Some said it was not warm enough to be classified "lamb," while others said it was not cold enough to be called "lion."

The groundhog, however, who prophecied on Feb. 2, that winter weather would continue for six more weeks, maintained the weather was of the winter variety. Such weather, he declared, will continue for two more weeks.

City Land Sales Drop 85 Per Cent

Sale of city-owned property dropped by approximately 85 per cent during January and February of this year compared with the same period last year, figures released today by Ald. D. D. McTavish, chairman of the lands, zoning and housing committee, revealed.

Last year 94 parcels of land were sold for $40,777, while for the two-month period this year 80 parcels were sold for only $6,827. During February, 1947, 59 parcels were sold for $27,057; while in February of this year 74 parcels were sold for $5,319. These included 52 of the lots for the new veterans' homes which are sold at $1 a lot, it was explained.

Cash receipts in the lands department to date are $20,205, compared with $35,272 last year.

Mrs. P. Moore, 2607 Wark Street, has written Mayor Percy George asking that supervision be provided for the Ellice Street playground. She told of the voluntary work done by the people of the neighborhood to clear the lot and set up playground equipment.

Fines of $50 each were imposed in city police court today by Magistrate H. C. Hall on John Watson and William Woods who were found guilty of having liquor in a cafe. Lee You, alleged to be in charge of the cafe at the time, was found guilty of permitting liquor to be consumed in a cafe and was fined $50 and $5 costs.

Dimes Shower Reaches $8,593

The 1948 annual Shower of Dimes campaign for the crippled children of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, which closed last night, has reached a total of $8,593.74. Esther Pitkethley, chairman of the dimes drive committee of the Solarium Junior League, said the expectation is that when other promised donations have been received and expenses deducted the record of $8,500 set several years ago will either have been equalled or bettered.

Victoria Not Affected By Tie-Up On Puget Sound

SEATTLE (AP)—An estimated 100,000 residents of the Olympic Peninsula and Puget Sound islands were virtually stranded today.

The ferries stopped running at midnight or shortly thereafter.

Capt. Alex M. Peabody, Puget Sound Navigation Co. president, emerged from a four and one-half hour meeting with Governor Wallgren shortly before last midnight and said: "We are going to start the orderly liquidation of the company at once," he said.

The lengthy last-minute meeting between Wallgren and Peabody broke up after the Governor had proposed that the state join with the company in asking the Thurston County Superior Court to set aside its judgments pending a complete review of the case by the state's department of transportation.

"In a bull-headed manner he (Peabody) said he didn't want any more to do with the department," the Governor of Washington said.

Wallgren said the offer would have permitted continued operation under its present 30 per cent temporary gate increase while the state department restudied the case.

The restudy, he said, would have taken into consideration 1947 operation figures presented by the company in court Friday. It also, he said, would have reconsidered some $640,000 in refunds due ferry users.

The refusals resulted from a court decision affirming the department's order to cut the 30 per cent temporary boost back to but 10 per cent above rates charged Feb. 15, 1947.

Governor Wallgren said Capt. Peabody had asked for an additional 30 per cent rate increase, in addition to the 30 per cent increase now in effect. He asked also, Wallgren said, "that the refund of approximately $640,000 be canceled."

Victoria officials of the Black Ball Line, owned by the Puget Sound Navigation Co., today reaffirmed that the company's international ferry service between the U.S. and this city would be unaffected by the withdrawal of the service in Puget Sound.

Ferry rates on the international service come under a different authority and agreement from that which is involved in the Puget Sound local dispute.

Takes Over New Duties

Dr. J. L. Gayton took over his duties as medical health officer for Victoria and Esquimalt today. He succeeds Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, who is now medical superintendent of Jubilee Hospital.

Ash To Take Seat In House March 15

Arthur J. R. Ash, Coalition government member elected last Monday in the provincial by-election in Saanich, is expected to take his seat in British Columbia legislature on March 15.

Robert Brydon, returning officer for Saanich, reported today that he would begin making the official count for the by-election Tuesday. The count is expected to take two days. Ten clear days must pass after the official count before the election writ is formally filed. This will mean that Mr. Ash, who received more than 1,500 votes more than his closest opponent, will be able to take his seat in the legislature about March 15.

Walter Hogg, the new member for Cariboo, will probably not be able to take his seat in the House until a few days later, since the official count will be held later this week.

Canvassers Must Hold City License

Men or women working as canvassers for out-of-town firms must take out a trades licence or be liable for prosecution, W. Wallace, trades licence inspector, warned today.

He said he had noted that a number of eastern firms had advertised for canvassers in Victoria but those obtaining the jobs had not taken out a trades license to operate as agents for the firms.

The license costs $50, and there is a penalty of $100 for canvassing without it.

Editor Retires

EDMONTON (CP)—Announcement of the retirement on pension of John Howey, editor of the Edmonton Bulletin, was made today by H. Straight, publisher. Harold Weir, associate editor of the Bulletin since 1940, succeeds Mr. Howey as editor.

Materials Pile Up; Esquimalt Hires More Work Crew

The day when shortage of materials plagued every public works move in Esquimalt is at an end temporarily at least, with four additional men put on work crews today, as a result of a report of Edmund Fulcher, public works superintendent, that materials were piling up and using much needed space.

Council at a special meeting authorized hiring of the men after Mr. Fulcher told of the numerous small repair jobs that were accumulating in the municipality.

"There is the sewer repair at the foot of Sturdee Street, left over from last year and Uganda ditch, as well as several minor sidewalks and drainage jobs promised that have not yet been attempted," he said.

Last year a program of street signs was commenced but work had to stop because of the difficulty of obtaining materials, Mr. Fulcher said adding that now the material was in hand. Necessary equipment for a set of swings for Colville Road playground is also on hand.

Twice As Much Rain Fell In February

Victorians are fully justified in complaining about the precipitation here during the past month as practically twice as much rain was recorded at the Dominion Meteorological Station at Gonzales Hill than is usual for February, it was announced today.

Actual figures show that 5.26 inches fell here in February, 2.26 inches above normal. The total precipitation since Jan. 1 was given as 8.49 inches, or an inch and a quarter above normal.

Sunshine for the month was four hours below normal as only 92 hours was recorded for a daily average of just over three hours.

Mean temperature for February was 39 degrees, while the normal is 41. On Feb. 6, the thermometer read only 26 degrees, while the maximum was reached on Feb. 17, when the mercury climbed to 55 degrees.

Taxi Men Divide On Board Question

Taxi companies in Victoria have divided into two opposing factions over the question of setting up a board to regulate the taxi business in Greater Victoria, and over the compulsory installation of taxi meters.

H. W. Davey, acting for a number of taxi owners and operators, stated in a letter to the City Counsel that he had been instructed to oppose the setting up of a taxi board.

He queried if the city had the power to set up such a board, and also objected that its inauguration would mean the virtual exclusion of new taxi businesses.

He objected to the compulsory installation of taxi meters on the ground that it would prevent the charging of monthly rates for regular services which are below what the meter charge would be for such service.

A petition on the matter is in the course of prepartion, he said.

Lions Club To Stage Fashion Show And Auction At Sirocco Next Week

Plans are now well under way for staging a two-night fashion show and auction sale at the Sirocco Monday and Tuesday of next week by the Lions Club, Clarence Johns, vice-president of the club, and chairman of the committee which is arranging the event, announced today.

"While most fashion shows are strictly for women, ours will include features which will be of interest to men," Mr. Johns said. "We hope the men will take this opportunity of seeing just what a fashion show is like."

On each of the two evenings that the show will be held the program will be divided into four parts. "Children on Parade," a showing of children's garments will highlight the first part. Children will model the clothes. Included in this part of the program will be a dance by Jean Burns.

"Fashions of '48," will be shown in the second part of the program, featuring new look styles and the latest hat designs.

Musical entertainment will be presented following this part of the program by six-year-old Sharon Williams.

The very latest in swim suits will be shown in the third part of the program "Swim Suits in the Spotlight."

Special hair stylings will be worn by the mannequins taking part in the show.

Commentator of proceedings will be Miss Ida Bianco.

The final part of the program will be the auctioning off of new, hard-to-get merchandise. A new car will be put up for bidding on each of the two nights the show will be held.

Other articles to go under the auctioneer's gavel include several electric washing machines, electric ranges, refrigerators, mixmasters and numerous other electrical appliances which are not available on the retail markets in any great quantity.

Entire proceeds from the two-night event will go to the Lions' Charity Fund. Two current projects which are being undertaken by the club through this fund is the building of a butcher-type refrigeration unit at the B.C. Protestant Orphanage and the correction of a congenital eye condition of a local teen-aged boy.

Tickets for the show will be on sale at the Douglas Street entrance of David Spencer Ltd., starting Tuesday.

Ald. Edward Williams, chairman of the finance committee, recommended to today's City Council meeting payment of $2,000 to the Red Cross campaign.

Tax collections in the city are $16,000 above the 1947 level for the first two months of the year, H. J. Allen, assessor-collector, reported today. Prepaid taxes this year are $526,280, and arrears $18,363; compared with $510,802 in prepaid taxes during 1947, and arrears of $16,252.

Vancouver Little Theatre Wins B.C. Drama Festival

VANCOUVER (CP)—It will be the Vancouver Little Theatre performing again when the "on stage" call is given the British Columbia entry in the Dominion Drama Festival in Ottawa in April.

The group's presentation of Sidney Howard's two-act social problems study "The Silver Cord" took top honors Saturday night among five plays in the B.C. Regional Festival.

Three of six awards fell to the Vancouver Little Theatre group; the Hamber award for the winning play; best actor to Floyd Caza for his portrayal of "David," and runner-up best actress to Joy Coghill for her performance as "Mrs. Phelps."

MOTHER AND SONS

The play, concerned with the effect of a possessive mother on two grown sons, was the only one in the B.C. eliminations to draw an all-round "well-polished-performance" tribute from the adjudicator, Robert Stuart of London.

The Murrin Award, for the second-best play, went to New Westminster's Vagabond Players' "Ladies in Retirement," a three-act melodrama by Edward Percy and Reginald Denham.

Verlie Cooter, who Mr. Stuart said "Saved" the escapist "Ladies in Retirement," was named best actress for her titillating interpretation of "Louisa."

The award of runner-up best actor went to Doug Brown, who played "Vale" in Vancouver Community self-help group's one-act drama "Curtain Call."

The play, story of a nervous, overworked actor in a death scene, was written by Alex Hood of Vancouver. No placing was given "Curtain Call" nor the two other one-act dramas—Vancouver-authored "Tender Memory," written by Wing Cmdr. W. J. Moody and presented by West Vancouver Little Theatre, and the same group's presentation of Lal Morris' "Fair Rosamund."

The Vancouver Little Theatre last year represented B.C.—although postwar drama eliminations only were resumed this year—in London, Ont., with "Angel Street." Aileen Seaton, who played "Mrs. Manningham," carried off a dominion festival's best actress award.

Motor Car Plunges Into Welland Canal; 6 Believed Dead

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP) —Four persons were drowned and two others were missing, believed drowned, after a motor car in which they were driving home from a drinking party had plunged from a dead-end street into the weir of the Welland Ship Canal at nearby Humberstone early Sunday.

The dead:

William D. Rogers, 45, of Welland, Ont., owner and driver of the car.

Arthur Morningstar, 38, Rogers' nephew, of nearby Crowland.

Frances Garner, 36, of Welland.

Mrs. Melvin Keeler, 38, Miss Garnet's sister, of Crowland.

Missing were Mrs. Harry Rivett, about 38, of Crowland, and James Hart of Welland.

All the bodies except those of Hart and Mrs. Rivett were recovered Sunday after Oliver Edwards, Welland Canal diver, had attached a line to the car and enabled it to be dragged from the canal.

WERE WITH PARTY

Police said they learned the missing couple were with the four victims when the party left a tavern, but investigators were unable to establish whether Mrs. Rivett and Hart were in the car when it went over the Weir wall, snapped a guy wire and sank in 15 feet of water.

The broken guy-wire lashed up and short-circuited hydro wires and part of the village was plunged into darkness.

After checking at the homes of Hart and Mrs. Rivett, police expressed belief that the couple had been in the car, but that the bodies floated out of the sunken vehicle either after the plunge or when the car was being raised.

Awaiting word of Mrs. Rivett's fate were her husband and nine children. Mrs. Keller left three children.

Says Dairy Prices Lower In Canada Than Elsewhere

QUEBEC (CP) — Robert C. Smellie, president of the National Dairy Council of Canada, told the annual meeting today that "despite everything that has been or will be said about the high prices now prevailing for dairy products in Canada, the fact remains that in our domestic market dairy products today are selling at prices lower than almost anywhere else in the world."

Prices in one or two countries might, on the surface, appear lower, but "I believe our prices at today's levels will stand in most favorable comparison."

Prices of dairy products were higher than pre-war levels, but they had not advanced as much as other basic food products.

As long as the present United Kingdom cheese contract was in effect the wholesale price of butter could not be expected to drop below a minimum of 62 cents a pound "if butter is to continue to be produced in those areas where there is direct competition."

Mr. Smellie recalled that two years ago he had warned that the public must soon realize the day of cheap food was over in Canada.

Captain, Steward Injured In Fight Aboard Freighter

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — A fight aboard the freighter St. Augustine Victory Sunday resulted in injury to the captain and steward.

Sheriff Tom Warnock said the officers were hurt in a battle with several crewmen and a stowaway soldier from Fort Lewis.

The sheriff said the trouble started while the vessel was en route from Seattle to Everett after Capt. W. R. Merson, 28, Rochester, N.Y., had found the soldier, Ben F. King, 23, Mississippi.

Fourteen police and sheriff's officers who answered a radio appeal took six seamen and King into custody when the ship docked here. The crew members were released Sunday night and King was held for Fort Lewis authorities as being absent without leave.

Capt. Merson was knocked unconscious in the melee. He is to be X-rayed today for a possible skull fracture.

The steward, John W. Hays, 50, New Orleans, La., was cut about the face and bruised when he went to Capt. Merson's aid.

Capt. Merson said the fight started when he grabbed King and several crewmen came to the soldier's assistance.

The St. Augustine Victory, under charter from the Maritime Commission to the U.S. Steel Corp., is scheduled to sail tonight for Coos Bay, Ore.

Wife Forbids Doctor To Tell Husband He Is Going To Die

"Six months, perhaps, Mrs. Barclay," said the specialist. "That's all we can promise you. You know your husband's mental make-up better than anyone. Should we tell him the truth immediately or should we let things drift for awhile?"

"Six months," I wishpered. "Are you telling me that after six months—are you telling me that—" I couldn't go on, for a moment, and then all at once I was talking fast, my words were tumbling over each other. "You must promise, both of you," I said wildly, "never to tell him. He mustn't know, ever, that he won't get well. He must think that he's having a slow, difficult convalescence. He must think that there's poison in his system, that it's going to take time to drain away. You're clever, both of you, you'll be able to think up a plausible excuse."

The doctors had promised. They were clever. They would make Bill believe—the incredible.

What would you do if your husband was given six months to live? You may read the tragic ending to this true story entitled "Vigil" in the March edition of True Romances now on sale at your magazine dealers. This is the first edition of True Romances, now printed in Canada, to appear on the market since the recent magazine embargo.

"CANADA'S LARGEST MORTGAGE INSTITUTION"

a Drama of the Wilderness

True reports on the work of the Red Cross by leading Canadian writers

by John Fisher

● The baby didn't whimper as the minister lifted up the tikinagum—the strange cradle in which our Northern Indians still carry their papooses. The minister's words had a familiar rhythm in the little church. I couldn't understand anything, though, save the name 'Robert George'.

I saw the mother's shawled head bow in prayer, her soft Ojibway face reverent. Beside her, the father stood bareheaded; his features sharper, more hawklike—a Cree. Neither spoke English, so the baptismal service flowed on alternately in two Indian tongues. It was an unexpected moment in my life. A few hours previously I had stepped off a modern train at this remote outpost. Now, I felt I was back in the days of Champlain's voyageurs.

18 miles through the wilderness

After the service I looked closer at tiny Robert George, just two weeks old. His brown eyes blinked, then his plump little cheeks creased, and he grinned. Healthy! That youngster would have taken prizes anywhere. The minister said the family had hiked into the tiny settlement a few weeks ago, eighteen miles through the never-ending spruce forests. Why? So the Indian mother could have her baby safely at the Red Cross Outpost Hospital. I had heard that these hospitals are dots of mercy and life-saving from McBride on Vancouver Island to the Magdalena in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. I had read dramatic newspaper stories of how blood plasma was parachuted by mercy plane to the Red Cross Outpost at Hudson Bay Junction in Saskatchewan.

But here, as a mother had her healthy baby christened, I realized that Red Cross Outpost Hospitals meant more than dots on the map and newspaper headlines.

A story as big as Canada

Sometimes, very rarely, these outpost stations get publicity for startling rescues. More often such drama goes unnoticed. More often still we all forget the everyday hospital round. Babies being born, routine operations, the sick cured, broken bodies mended.

To me this case was symbolic—parent walking 18 miles for help; receiving it (and more) at the Red Cross Hospital. I went to a christening in a little outpost and found a story as big as Canada.

Red Cross Services include: Blood Transfusion, Outpost Hospitals, Aid to Sick and Disabled Veterans, Treatment for Crippled Children, Disaster Relief, Nutrition Services, Home Nursing Courses, Swimming and Water-Safety, etc.

The work of mercy never ends . . . Give generously to the CANADIAN RED CROSS

They'll Do It Every Time

Uncle Ray

When Wolfgang Mozart told Marie Antoinette that he was going to marry her after he grew up, he was only six years old and knew little about the ways of the world. The princess was to marry a man chosen for her by her elders, and was to reign as the queen of France.

As a reward for playing at the Austrian court, Marianne was given a white silk dress, and her brother was given a suit of lilac color, trimmed with gold braid. Pictures of the boy and girl in these costumes still exist.

The next year a longer concert tour was started by the children, in company with their father. This time they went to Paris, and played before the French king and his court. People in Paris praised them highly, and enjoyed the music they provided with violin and clavichord. Little Wolfgang also played the organ with skill.

After spending five months in Paris, the Mozarts went to London. There they were received in the royal palace, and delighted the English king and queen by their music. A sum equal to $100 in our money was given to them after their second concert in the palace.

A son of Sebastian Bach, the famous musician, lived in London at that time, and took a great interest in the young Austrian. Often he joined Wolfgang in playing a sonata.

While he was in London, Wolfgang composed six sonatas for the piano, violin and flute. These were dedicated to Charlotte, the British queen, and he was given a present of 50 guineas (worth about $200 at present exchange).

The tours which Wolgang Mozart made during his boyhood gave him "magic memories." Perhaps these memories were of importance to him after he grew up and met with hard years of poverty. During those later years he learned what it meant to be cold and hungry, but he was married to a woman of cheerful nature, and this helped a great deal. Sometimes, on cold days, Mozart and his wife would dance in their bare apartment. The dancing kept them from feeling so cold.

Paralyzed Sailor Leaving For Home

James Stones, crippled in a fall from the British freighter Sampep Nov. 8, will be leaving within two weeks for his home in Middlesbrough, Yorkshire, after being hospitalized at the Royal Jubilee Hospital since his accident.

The Sampep was towed here after being damaged in a Port Alberni waterfront fire late last year, and it was while she was berthed at Ogden Point that Stones fell from the ship's gangplank to the ground 12 feet below, landing on his back. He is now paralyzed from the hips down.

He will make the trip home by air and will be accompanied by a male orderly for the whole distance. On his arrival he will be greeted by his wife and four children. He is to be hospitalized in a Manchester hospital, where it is hoped a recovery may be effected.

Movie Actors Among Greatest Complainers Reporter Declares

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Next to baseball club managers, the world's greatest beefers are film actors.

This conclusion can be reached by any movie reporter after a few years on the studio beat. For instance, this week I listened to John Payne telling why he left his 20th-Fox contract, which owed him $130,000 for the remainder of a year's term:

"It was worth it. I can make more money free-lancing, and I'm much happier away from the complete disagreements that marred my stay at the studio.

"Despite the fact that over 60 per cent of producers and directors are former actors, they don't give an actor credit for knowing anything about scripts. More aggravating is the practice of letting an actor warm up for a part, and then telling him someone else will do it and he will start another role the next day.

THOSE PROMISES

"I'm tired of studio reneging and broken promises."

Payne's plaint is typical. Briefly catalogued, most common beefs are:

1. No choice of roles. (See above, or anybody at Warner's.)

2. Roles not big enough. (Gene Tierney, who refused "Unfaithfully Yours" and was replaced by Linda Darnell.)

3. No loan-outs to other studios. (Van Johnson, others.)

4. Other stars getting favored roles. (Dana Andrews, who says he has long played second fiddle to Gregory Peck.)

5. No cut on loan-out fees. (Bill Holden, Red Skelton.)

6. Tight-laced, long-term contracts. (Larry Parks.)

7. Being typed. (Maureen O'Hara, Jane Russell.)

8. Getting inferior billing. (Maria Montez, who sued over her "The Exile" billing.)

9. Not enough money. (Name any actor.)

DOMINION THEATRE

Glamor personified . . . Gorgeous Vivien Leigh, who stars in "Storm in a Teacup," the delightful comedy which is now at the Dominion Theatre, is the result of the painstaking grooming to which Alexander Korda subjects each of his discoveries. . . . Vivien underwent the same slow, careful training that produced Korda's earlier "find," Merle Oberon.

Fine Cast Presents 'Mikado' This Week

Pictured above at their dress rehearsal are members of the cast of the Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Society's presentation of the "Mikado," a full-scale production in native costume, including a mixed chorus of 60, with orchestra under the direction of George E. Bower. The stage director is W. Tayler.

The "Mikado," which is the society's third production, will be presented at the Royal Theatre tomorrow night, and will be repeated Wednesday and Thursday.

On invitation by the society, the residents of the Aged Women's Home, the Old Men's Home and patients of the Veterans' Hospital attended the dress rehearsal and were enthusiastic about it.

Principals in the cast are: "Mikado," John Logie; "Katisha," Marie Beale; "Yum Yum," Dorothy Kenward; "Pitti Sing," June Milburn; "Peep Bo," Helena Williams; "Ko-Ko," Jim Mead-Robbins; "Pooh Bah," Ivan Howell; "Pish Tush," Don Beale, and "Nanki Poo," Alan White.

The "Mikado" is being sponsored by the Gyro Club.

Irish Favorites In Musical At York

The razzle-dazzle era of vaudeville, musical comedy and Tin Pan Alley just prior to the First World War is the exciting setting for Damon Runyon's "Irish Eyes Are Smiling," the 20th Century-Fox Technicolor musical, starring Monty Woolley, June Haver and Dick Haymes, and opening today at the York Theatre.

The riotous film tells of the romance of two hot-headed Irish sweethearts, and the flaming melodies that have always topped the nation's lilt parade.

Romantic Triangle In 'Desire Me'

Greer Garson offers a brilliant acting portrayal as a woman forced to choose between two men in one of the most arresting dramatic triangles brought to the screen. The suspense-packed action takes place in M-G-M's "Desire Me," current attraction on the Capitol screen.

Miss Garson enacts the French girl Marise who, believing her soldier husband, Paul, to be dead, succumbs to the attractions of Jean, the man who returns to Marise's Brittany fishing village to tell her that Paul had been his fellow-prisoner of the Germans.

Zane Grey's 'Nevada' Showing At Rio

Bringing a new series of Zane Grey western stories to the screen of the Rio Theatre, RKO Radio's "Nevada" also presents a brand-new outdoor hero in Robert Mitchum, in the leading role in this exciting romance of the frontier.

With the Comstock Lode as its setting, the film deals with the remarkable discovery of that world-famous silver-mining area, and blends an exciting romance with swift action. Richard Martin, Nancy Gates, Anne Jeffreys, Guinn "Big Boy" Williams and other favorites are featured in the picture.

'Lured' Held Over At Plaza Theatre

George Sanders, who plays a starring role in Hunt Stromberg's dramatic mystery-romance, "Lured," is learning to cook.

On Wednesdays George resolutely dons an apron, and in solitary determination prepares his own evening meal.

In his starring role in "Lured," which is currently at the Plaza Theatre through United Artists release, Sanders shares stellar honors with Lucille Ball, Charles Coburn, and Boris Karloff. The picture is set in London, with Scotland Yard playing a big part in the plot.

'Wild Irish Rose' Opens At Atlas

Vaudeville at the old Fourteenth Street Theatre in New York City at the turn of the century is depicted in graphic color by Technicolor style in Warner Bros.' brilliant film offering, "My Wild Irish Rose," with Dennis Morgan as Chauncey Olcott, opening today at the Atlas Theatre. Lillian Russell, Weber and Fields and other headliners of that era, figure in the plot.

Others in cast include Arlene Dahl, Andrea King, Alan Hale, George Tobias, George O'Brien, Ben Blue and Sara Allgood.

ODEON THEATRE

All who read the book will long remember Thomas Armstrong's human story of a Yorkshire family, "The Crowthers of Bankdam." All the love, hatred and schemings of three generations of Crowthers who own the Bankdam mill, have been recaptured on the screen, in the picture showing today at the Odeon. The cast is headed by Anne Crawford, Dennis Price, Tom Walls, Stephen Murray and Linden Travers.

YESTERDAY I sed to the G.F. "I think I'll go up to the garage and change the plates." "O.K." she replied, "but be careful of those numbers. I had to stand in line long enuff to get 'em, and they turn green awfully fast . . . I saw one to-day, all green . . . it sure would be hard to read." "Well . . . I'll be careful . . . don't you worry." I had a screw driver and a lot of others, and started in . . . well . . . do YOU think I could turn that little nut . . . NO SIR . . . nothing would budge . . . then I got the hammer . . . but NO SIR . . . then I got the hatchet . . . but NO SIR . . . then I went back to the new Drive and hammer, and hanged big holes right thru the British, and the fool thing clattered on the floor, and I cut my finger, and I was smeared with oil, rust and grime. Then when I gingerly picked up the new plate, I had such big holes in the car, that I couldn't find any washer big enuff to hold the plate on . . . it looked like I'd received a couple of broadsides from the Uganda or something . . . so I found some old chicken wire, and finally got the fool thing hung on. Then I went around to the front, but I'll be darned if I could find any bracket for a plate, and because I was out of chicken wire, I just tied it on the front bumper with string. I limped back to port, and put in at the kitchen depot, and sank exhausted on the poop deck, while all my tools fell around me on the floor, and the G.F. rushed for the Band-Aid, and the girls made a big fuss over me, and the cat came up and wound itself around my legs, and I was given a big mug of steaming coffee, and all I sed was "We Won," but we didn't get much for our $16.60.

HUMBER BROTHERS furniture in The Heaney Warehouse. View—below. Gov't.

YOU ALWAYS WIN . . . when you buy from us . . . ferinstance THIS davenport for only $75 is a "winner" in any race . . . lovely covers in old rose, green or wine . . . wider flat arms, with walnut fronts.

Aussies Score Impressive Win; Play Here Saturday

VANCOUVER (CP) — Australia's touring Wallabies thrilled 6,000 fans here Saturday with a magnificent exhibition of English rugby as they defeated Vancouver Lions 36 to 3.

First team from a sister dominion to play in Vancouver since the New Zealand All-Blacks were here in 1936, the Wallabies demonstrated uncanny ball-handling, delightful passing bouts and terrific speed when necessary.

Wallabies, who won 28 of 35 games played in their recent tour of France and the British Isles, proved that a fast and tricky three-quarter line can win almost any rugby game.

In glorious Pacific Coast sunshine British Columbia's "Old Country" folk filled the Brockton Oval stands and hilariously cheered the boys from "down under."

Wallabies will meet Varsity Thunderbirds at Varsity Wednesday in the second game of their British Columbia series and will play Victoria's Crimson Tide at Macdonald Park Saturday in the wind-up of the tour.

5 Killed, 4 Injured When Snowplow Hits Locomotive

HANNA, Alta. (CP)—The Saturday night collision of a snowplow with a yard engine in the Canadian National Railways yard here in which five persons lost their lives was being investigated today by railway officials.

The accident took place when the west-bound wedge-type plow crashed into the rear of the freight engine while pushing snow as it entered the yards. Observers believe flying snow clouded vision of the engineer on the plow section.

Killed were: E. W. Lloyd, Hanna, engineer of the freight engine; A. Ochronowich, Kindersley, Sask., section man; S. Blazenko, Aalsk, Alta, section foreman; N. A. Ravion, Manengo, Sask., section foreman; J. Slobodnik, Arengo, Sask., section man.

Seriously injured: M. Socoka, Kindersley, section foreman.

Injured: A. J. Steveson, Flaxcombe, Sas., section foreman; W. H. Graham, Merid, Sask., section foreman; P. Krewski, Alsask., section foreman; J. Hiladas, Kindersley, section man.

A number of section men were riding in the cupola of the snowplow at the time. As it rammed into the rear of the yard engine, part of the engine tender smashed into the cupola, killing four of the men. Engineer Lloyd was the only victim on the engine.

Short-Covering Provides Prop

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market had some aspects of a March lion today although lamb-like tendencies still were in evidence.

Selected rails and aircrafts led a forenoon bulge with professional short covering and other buying a potent influence. Extreme gains running to a point or more were reduced in most cases near the close.

Short coverings and other buying by professionals provided the principal prop.

DEAD END JOBS

ONE OF THE MOST frequent criticisms aimed at our educational system in Canada is that in the effort to provide every child with higher educational opportunities it has overlooked the fact that so few of them either can't or won't take advantage of them.

Those who have looked into the matter assert that only about 3 per cent of Canadian youth goes on to university; the other 97 per cent finish at Grade 9 or thereabouts.

These youngsters enter the labor market, the majority gravitating into occupations which all too often fall in to the category of dead end jobs. Many go into industries already suffering from a dearth of skilled labor.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION

BECAUSE OF THIS SITUATION, attention is now being focussed upon a recently-formed nation-wide body whose aim is to find some solution to the problem of keeping young people in school longer so that the general education level may be raised.

The new body is called the Canadian Research Committee on Practical Education. And its interest to British Columbia is enhanced by the fact that Col. F. T. Fairey, Deputy Minister of Education, is one of its executive board, and H. A. Jones, director of technical education for B.C., one of its committee heads.

According to the new committee's research director, A. G. McColl, the solution to the problem of keeping youngsters at school and out of dead end jobs may be found if our schools, in conjunction with business, industry and labor, can work out programs of instruction which have more meaning, greater appeal and greater apparent value to youth of high school age.

GET AT THE ROOTS

TO THAT END, steps are being taken to get at the reasons why about 160,000 students over Grade 6 all over Canada leave school either before they complete their courses or upon graduation.

The committee will also probe the value of the apprenticeship system, vocational training in schools, and the advisability of some sort of scheme such as has been tried in Britain, whereby part-time schooling is combined with part-time on-the-job training.

Efforts will be made to find out if education in rural schools meets the needs of boys who want to become successful farmers, trained along scientific lines, or if it helps girls become good homemakers.

FEW FOR PROFESSIONS

AS AN ENLIGHTENING ARTICLE on the subject in the Financial Post points out, only 24.7 per cent of rural boys between the ages of 15 to 19 are in school, compared to 42.8 per cent of urban boys.

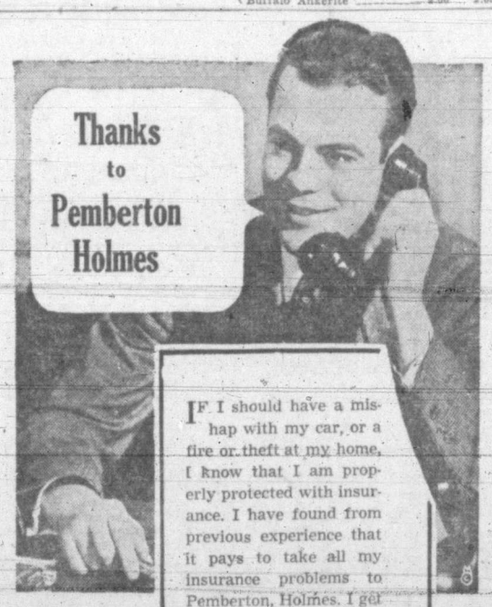
When it comes to the girls, either in urban or rural schools, comparatively few of them go on to professional careers. They marry and become housewives, controlling the spending of 85 per cent of the family income. So why not give definite courses in consumer education—plus an extension of training in home economics? it is asked.

PRECISE REASONS

AS WELL AS DISCLOSING why more students do not stay longer in school, the committee hopes its survey will bring to light other things. Such as the types of employment entered by those who have limited general education, those who are high school graduates, and those who have had specific vocational training.

It should also indicate to what extent the job entered is related to the training received in school, and show the relative numbers who go on for further training.

It is too early, of course, to evaluate the practical potential of the survey. But at least it promises to provide an answer—one way or another—to those who have long claimed that our present system tends to turn out too large a proportion of "white-collar" workers in a country which needs more of the skilled, overall-wearing type.



IF I should have a mishap with my car, or a fire or theft at my home, I know that I am properly protected with insurance. I have found from previous experience that it pays to take all my insurance problems to Pemberton, Holmes. I get adequate coverage at standard rates . . . and claims are promptly adjusted.

A call from you will bring a call from us.
